Clerk of the Court

Re: Dr. A v. Hochul, No. 21A145

Dear Mr. Harris:

Last week, Applicants informed the Court that New York had just announced a deadline of November 22 to cancel religious exemptions for healthcare workers. Reply 11. Below is a brief factual update:

First, there are already reports of many healthcare workers who had previously been accommodated and are now being fired or suspended in response to the deadline, at times causing facilities to close.¹

Second, I have been informed by my clients and can represent to the Court that, as of midnight last night, 16 of 17 Applicants have either been terminated by their employers or suspended pending termination within days, with all previously granted religious exemptions having been revoked. One Applicant, Nurse A, accepted a shot in order to keep her job.

We respectfully request that you distribute this letter to the Justices.

Respectfully submitted,
