Re: Missouri v. Joseph Biden, Jr., No. 21-3494

Dear Mr. Gans:

We write to notify the Court of developments in other courts of appeals related to the above-captioned case challenging the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's November 4, 2021 Emergency Temporary Standard (ETS) addressing means to protect against the grave danger to certain employees of contracting COVID-19 in the workplace. To date, petitions for review challenging the same ETS have been filed in the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eleventh, and D.C. Circuits. See attached list.

In 28 U.S.C. § 2112, Congress set forth procedures governing this situation, i.e., when multiple petitions for review of a single agency order are filed in at least two courts of appeals within ten days after issuance of the order. In such cases, the agency must notify the judicial panel on multidistrict litigation. 28 U.S.C. § 2112(a)(3). The panel must then, "by means of random selection, designate one court of appeals, from among the courts of appeals in which petitions for review have been filed . . . , and shall issue an order consolidating the petitions for review in that court of appeals.” Id. The various courts with pending proceedings “shall transfer those proceedings” to the court of appeals selected through the lottery. Id. § 2112(a)(5). Section 2112 further provides that any court of appeals in which a petition for review is filed “may, to the extent authorized by law, stay the effective date of the order” and that any such “stay may thereafter be modified, revoked, or extended by” the court chosen through the multi-circuit lottery described above. Id. § 2112(a)(4).

With respect to the ETS at issue, the United States expects the multi-circuit lottery to take place on or about November 16, after which all petitions for review will be consolidated in one court of appeals responsible for deciding these petitions and considering or reconsidering any stay orders.

Sincerely,

MICHAEL S. RAAB
ADAM C. JED
