1 INTEREST OF THE UNITED STATES

Through Title IV-D of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. 651 et seq., Congress has made the needs of children and families for vigorous and effective child support enforcement a national priority. Title IV-D, which is administered by the Secretary of Health and Human Services, is one of the largest cooperative federal-state programs. More than 19 million people received child support services under Title IV-D in FY 1995, and the United States paid the States in excess of $2.0 billion for those services. The Title IV-D program has located millions of absent parents and helped hundreds of thousands of children identify their fathers. The nearly $40 billion in child support collected since 1990 alone has resulted in hundreds of thousands of families avoiding or leaving the welfare rolls, thereby reducing the human and financial toll of welfare dependence. See generally HHS, Child Support Enforcement: Nineteenth Annual Report to Congress *2 2, 29-45 (1994). The United States has a strong interest in ensuring that the duties States voluntarily assume under Title IV-D are enforced in a manner that protects the rights of needy children and their parents, and at the same time avoids interference with federal oversight or with those areas of Title IV-D administration that Congress left to state discretion.

STATEMENT

1. Congress first required States to undertake child support enforcement efforts as a condition of receiving federal funds in 1950, under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program. Ch. 809, § 321(b), 64 Stat. 550. In 1968, Congress required States participating in AFDC to create an organizational unit for establishing paternity and collecting child support; enter into cooperative agreements with local officials to accomplish those goals and identify missing parents; and cooperate with other States in locating parents and enforcing support orders. Pub. L. No. 90-248, §§ 201(a)(1), 211(a), 81 Stat. 877-879, 896-897.

2. Congress's frustration with the lack of progress in child support enforcement culminated in the passage, in 1975, of Title IV-D of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. 651 et seq. Pub. L. No. 93-647, § 101, 88 Stat. 2337-2361 (1975 Act); see also S. Rep. No. 1356, 93d Cong., 2d Sess. 42-44 (1974). Congress concluded that "children have the right to receive support from their fathers," and that Title IV-D would "help children attain this right, including the right to have their fathers identified so that support can be obtained." S. Rep. No. 1356, supra, at 42. The 1975 Act envisioned "a far more active role on the part of the Federal Government" in monitoring state programs and directly assisting the States' enforcement of children's rights. Id. at 2.

The 1975 Act required States participating in AFDC to "have in effect a plan approved under [Title IV-D] and operate a child support program in conformity with such plan." § 101(c)(5)(C), 88 Stat. 2360. Each State must provide services to locate noncustodial parents and establish *3 the paternity of and secure support for children receiving AFDC benefits. 42 U.S.C. 654(4) and (8).¹ AFDC recipients must assign their support rights to the State and cooperate in enforcement efforts. 42 U.S.C. 602(a)(26).² Amounts recovered generally are retained by the State to reimburse it and the federal government for AFDC assistance provided to the family. 42 U.S.C. 657(a)-(b). Congress required States to provide services to non-AFDC families as well, 42 U.S.C. 654(6), although those families are not required to assign their support rights, 45 C.F.R. 302.33(e), and any child support the State collects must be paid to the family, 42 U.S.C. 657(a)(4)(B).

Congress agreed to pay 75% of the States' administrative costs under Title IV-D. 1975 Act, § 101(a), 88 Stat. 2355-2356. Congress also provided incentive payments for successful collection efforts. 42 U.S.C. 658. The 1975 Act directed the Secretary to establish standards for state programs in locating absent parents, establishing paternity, and obtaining child support "as [s]he determines to be necessary to assure that such programs will be effective," and to set organizational and staffing requirements for state child support offices. 42 U.S.C. 652(a)(1)-(2); see S. Rep. No. 1356, supra, at 46-47. The 1975 Act also established a federal Parent Locator Service utilizing federal and state records. 42 U.S.C. 652(a)(9), 653. The Secretary was charged with annually approving and auditing state programs. 42 U.S.C. 652(a)(3)-(4). If a State's program was found to be deficient, its federal Title IV-A (primarily AFDC) allotment was to be reduced *4 by 5%. 1975 Act, § 101(c)(6)(A), 88 Stat. 2360.³

3. By the mid-1980s, more than $10.8 billion in child support had been collected under Title IV-D, annual collections had nearly quadrupled, and state and local revenues had grown by more than $300 million. S. Rep. No. 387, 98th Cong., 2d Sess. 11 (1984). Nevertheless, Congress found that there remained "a critical lack of child support enforcement," which had "a critical impact on the health and welfare of the children of the Nation." Pub. L. No. 98-378, § 23(a)(2), (5), 98 Stat. 1329. Congress was concerned that, by measuring their success "solely in terms of welfare savings," many States were disinclined to assist non-AFDC families. H.R. Rep. No. 527, 98th Cong., 1st Sess. 29 (1983). Congress amended Title IV-D in 1984 to ensure, "through mandatory income withholding, incentive payments to States, and other improvements in the child support enforcement program, that all children in the United States who are in need of assistance in securing financial support from their parents will receive such assistance regardless of their circumstances." *5 Pub. L. No. 98-378, preamble, 98 Stat. 1305; see also id. § 23(a)(3), 98 Stat. 1329.

The 1984 amendments required States to adopt laws and procedures providing for (i) mandatory wage withholding; (ii) expedited processes for obtaining and enforcing support orders; (iii) state income tax refund intercepts; (iv) property liens for overdue support; (v) establishment of paternity any time prior to a child's eighteenth birthday; (vi) posting of bonds to secure payment of overdue support; (vii) reporting overdue support to consumer credit agencies; and (viii) withholding overdue support from wages without further judicial order. 42 U.S.C. 666(a)(1)-(8), (b); see S. Rep. No. 387, supra, at 26-30. States are required to have those laws "in effect" and to "implement the[[ir] procedures," and to establish statewide guidelines for child support amounts. 42 U.S.C. 654(20), 667.⁴

At the same time, Congress reduced the frequency and inflexibility of the Secretary's administrative oversight.⁵ With the exception of States under penalty, audits were made triennial, 42 U.S.C. 652\(a\)\(4\), and Title IV-A penalties were based on a State's failure to attain "substantial compliance," rather than "full compliance," with Title IV-D requirements, 42 U.S.C. 603\(h\)\(1\); see also 42 U.S.C. 602\(a\)\(27\). A State is in "substantial compliance" if "the Secretary determines that any noncompliance * * * is of a technical nature which does not adversely affect the performance of the child support enforcement program." 42 U.S.C. 603\(h\)\(3\).⁶ Congress *6 replaced the flat 5% penalty with a system of graduated penalties, ranging from 1% to 5% of total IV-A funds, and allowed States to avoid penalties by timely submission and successful implementation of corrective plans. 42 U.S.C. 603\(h\)\(1\), (2)(A) and (B).⁷ Those changes shifted the focus of federal oversight to overall programmatic performance. S. Rep. No. 387, supra, at 32. In so doing, Congress was "not abandoning the [] requirements of existing law but rather expect[ed] them to be more fully carried out." Id. at 33.

4. In 1988, Congress again amended Title IV-D to increase state duties and performance levels. S. Rep. No. 377, 100th Cong., 2d Sess. 8 (1988). States were required to implement "new and more stringent provisions for wage withholding" and periodically review and adjust individual support awards. Id. at 15; 42 U.S.C. 666\(a\)\(8\) and (10), (b)(3). Congress directed the States to adopt automated case tracking systems and continued 90% federal funding for them. 42 U.S.C. 654\(24\). States also were required to inform AFDC families monthly of collections on their behalf, 42 U.S.C. 654\(5\), and to adhere to state guidelines for setting child support awards, 42 U.S.C. 667\(b\). Congress directed the Secretary to adopt regulations setting specific time limits for States to accept and respond to requests for services, locate absent parents, establish paternity, initiate child support proceedings, and collect and distribute child support, *7 42 U.S.C. 652\(h\)-\(i\).⁸ Finally, Congress set federal standards for establishing paternity that, if not met, would result in a reduction in AFDC funds. 42 U.S.C. 652\(g\).⁹

5. a. On August 22, 1996, the President approved the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996, Pub. L. No. 104-193, 110 Stat. 2105 (1996 Act). As relevant here, the 1996 Act transformed AFDC into a block-grant program. Recipients now face a five-year cap on benefits, and Title IV-A does not "entitle any individual or family to assistance under any State program funded under this part." Id. § 103(a)(1), 110 Stat. 2113, 2137 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 601\(b\), 608\(a\)\(7\)). Similar language regarding the Title IV-D program was proposed (see H.R. 4, 104th Cong., 1st Sess. § 302 (1995)), but not enacted. The requirement under Title IV-A that States operate their child support programs in "substantial compliance" with Title IV-D has been replaced; States now must certify that they "will operate a child support enforcement program under the State plan approved under part D." 1996 Act, § 103(a)(1), 110 Stat. 2114 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 602\(a\)\(2\)). But the 1996 Act retained the framework of graduated penalties under Title IV-A for failure to comply substantially with Title IV-D's requirements. Id. at 2145 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 609\(a\)\(8\)).

b. Although the 1996 Act transformed numerous welfare programs into block grants, Congress left Title IV-D intact and, indeed, increased state responsibilities under *8 the program. The 1996 Act amended the rules governing distribution of collections to give priority to families who have left the welfare rolls. § 302(a), 110 Stat. 2200 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 657\(a\)\(2\)). Each State must establish a directory of new hires, a central registry of support orders, and centralized collection and disbursement units. Id. §§ 311, 312(a), 313(a), 110 Stat. 2205, 2207, 2209 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 654\(27\) and (28), 654a\(e\)). Congress set strict time limits for States to distribute support collections, notify employers to withhold child support, and take administrative enforcement action in interstate cases. Id. §§ 312(b), 313(b), 323, 110 Stat. 2208, 2211, 2222 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 653a\(g\)\(1\), 654b\(c\)\(1\), 666\(a\)\(14\)).

The 1996 Act directed States to adopt more streamlined processes for establishing paternity and to employ more rigorous child support enforcement techniques, such as automatic liens and suspension of driver's and professional licenses. §§ 314, 331(a), 368, 369, 110 Stat. 2212-2214, 2227-2230, 2251 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 666\(a\)\(1\), (4)(A), (5) and (16), (b)). In addition, States must adopt expedited procedures for (i) genetic testing; (ii) access to financial information and government records; (iii) mandatory income withholding; (iv) securing assets; and (v) increasing monthly payments in cases of arrearages. Id. § 325(a), 110 Stat. 2224 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 666\(a\)\(2\) and (c)). Support orders must be reviewed and updated upon request every three years, and States must give families notice of relevant proceedings and copies of orders, notice of right to seek review, and, upon request, information on the status of payments. Id. §§ 304(a), 312(b), 351, 110 Stat. 2205, 2208, 2239, 2240 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 654\(12\), 654b\(b\)\(4\), 666\(a\)\(10\)\(A\) and (C)).

c. The 1996 Act overhauled audit procedures and directed the Secretary to establish a new performance-based incentive and penalty program. §§ 341(a), 342(b), 110 Stat. 2231, 2233-2234 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 652\(a\)\(4\), 658 note). A State now must submit annual *9 reports documenting that its program is "operated in compliance with" Title IV-D, and the State's review must employ standards and procedures set by the Secretary. Id. § 342(a)(3), 110 Stat. 2233 (to be codified at 42

U.S.C. 654(15)). The Secretary’s triennial audit must assess the “completeness, reliability, and security of the data and the accuracy of the [State’s] reporting systems”; “the adequacy of financial management”; and “whether collections and disbursements of support payments are carried out correctly,” and it may pursue “such other purposes as the Secretary may find necessary.” Id. § 342(b), 110 Stat. 2233-2234 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 652(a)(4)(C)).¹⁰

6. Arizona has elected to participate in the AFDC and Title IV-D programs and has submitted plans assuring that it will operate a child support enforcement program in accordance with Title IV-D’s requirements. Based on those commitments, Arizona has received approximately $1.4 billion in AFDC funds and more than $222 million in Title IV-D funds from the federal government since 1976.

SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

A. This Court should not reconsider Maine v. Thiboutot, 448 U.S. 1 (1980). Principles of stare decisis counsel strongly against overruling a 16-year-old precedent that this Court unanimously reaffirmed two Terms ago. In any event, Congress twice ratified Thiboutot and its progeny in 1994.

B. Petitioner’s invocation of “principles of federalism” is misplaced. Title IV-D is a voluntary program through which Congress has given the States billions of dollars and developed a nationwide child support enforcement *10 infrastructure. The growing interstate character of the child support problem and the need for uniform enforcement call for a substantial federal role. The 1996 Act, moreover, demonstrates that Congress is responsive to federalism concerns in welfare administration. Under Title IV-D, however, Congress chose to strengthen the standards governing state programs. Enforcement of those standards in an action against state officials under 42 U.S.C. 1983 is fully consistent with Ex parte Young, 209 U.S. 123 (1908), and does not contravene the Eleventh Amendment.

C. Title IV-D’s text, structure, and legislative history establish that it creates enforceable rights in the individuals who seek child support services from a State. Its primary purpose is to provide children with much-needed child support services, which give them an opportunity to establish familial relationships with both parents and avoid a childhood pervaded by economic hardship. In addition, a number of provisions of Title IV-D and its implementing regulations speak in specific and mandatory terms that are well within the competence of courts to enforce.

Petitioner argues that Title IV-D’s “substantial compliance” floor for avoiding administrative penalties enables a State to ignore 25% of the children and families seeking its services. But Congress’s employment of a flexible measure of programmatic performance to undergird the funding relationship between governments does not mean that Congress no longer expected full adherence to Title IV-D’s requirements in a State’s furnishing of child support services to particular beneficiaries. Petitioner’s claim that Congress should have warned that a Section 1983 action would be available is also without merit, because Section 1983’s text, reinforced by recent Acts of Congress and this Court’s precedents, provided ample notice.

Not all of Title IV-D’s provisions, however, are judicially enforceable to the same degree. Congress preserved state discretion in some areas, such as selecting appropriate collection tools and initiating judicial proceedings. *11 Whether a Section 1983 action is available thus will depend on which aspect of the State’s program is at issue and the nature of the relief sought in a given case.

The Secretary’s generalized audit procedures do not preclude Section 1983 remedies, especially where, as here, there is no alternative avenue through which individuals can enforce their rights. The availability of relief under Section 1983 in appropriate circumstances will complement the Secretary’s oversight and promote Congress’s goal of effective and uniform child support enforcement across the Nation.

ARGUMENT

TITLE IV-D CREATES INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS THAT MAY BE ENFORCED IN AN ACTION UNDER 42 U.S.C.

1983

A. Maine v. Thiboutot Should Not Be Reconsidered

Section 1983 creates a private cause of action against any person who, under color of state law, deprives another “of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws” of the United States. 42 U.S.C. 1983. This Court held in Maine v. Thiboutot, 448 U.S. 1 (1980), that Section 1983 authorizes suits by private individuals against state actors who violate rights created by federal statutes, specifically including the Social Security Act. Id. at 4-8. Petitioner asks (Br. 32) this Court to “reconsider” Thiboutot and limit sharply the federal laws that may be enforced under Section 1983. There is no basis for doing so.¹¹

Principles of stare decisis counsel strongly against unraveling more than a decade and a half of precedent. “[S]tare decisis promotes the evenhanded, predictable, and consistent development of legal principles, fosters reliance *12 on judicial decisions, and contributes to the actual and perceived integrity of the judicial process.” United States v. International Business Machines Corp., 116 S. Ct. 1793, 1801 (1996) (internal quotation marks omitted). Both the doctrine and its underlying purposes apply with “special force” to issues of statutory construction. Patterson v. McLean Credit Union, 491 U.S. 164, 172 (1989). This Court’s “reluctance to overturn [[statutory construction] precedents derives in part from institutional concerns about the relationship of the judiciary to Congress,” for Congress is always free to correct the Court’s interpretation of the laws it passes. Neal v. United States, 116 S. Ct. 763, 769 (1996).

Consequently, this Court will overrule precedent construing a federal statute only if (i) intervening law has undercut the “conceptual underpinnings” of the decision; (ii) “later law has rendered the decision irreconcilable with competing legal doctrines or policies”; or (iii) the Court is provided “compelling evidence bearing on Congress’ original intent.” Neal, 116 S. Ct. at 769. None of those “special justification[s]” is present here. Arizona v. Rumsey, 467 U.S. 203, 212 (1984). Quite the opposite is true.

Intervening law has repeatedly followed and reaffirmed Thiboutot. Just two Terms ago, this Court unanimously reconfirmed and applied Thiboutot’s holding in Livadas v. Bradshaw, 114 S. Ct. 2068, 2083 (1994). No Justice has suggested that Thiboutot should be reexamined, and Thiboutot has come to occupy an active and vital position in the law, as petitioner recognizes. See Pet. Br. App. C. Petitioner offers no new or compelling evidence of Congress’s original intent to suggest that Section 1983 no longer “means what it says” (Thiboutot, 448 U.S. at 4).¹²

*13 In any event, in 1994, Congress twice ratified Thiboutot and its progeny--in 42 U.S.C. 1320a-2, and then in 42 U.S.C. 1320a-10.¹³ In the text of those provisions, Congress made clear that a cause of action is available to enforce provisions of the Social Security Act consistent with this Court’s precedents predating Suter v. Artist M., 503 U.S. 347 (1992), which of course include Thiboutot. See H.R. Conf. Rep. No. 761, 103d Cong., 2d Sess. 926 (1994) (“The intent of this provision is to assure that individuals who have been injured by a State’s failure to comply with the Federal mandates of the State plan titles of the Social Security Act are able to seek redress in the federal courts to the extent they were able to prior to * * * Suter v. Artist M.”); 140 Cong. Rec. S15,024 (daily ed. Oct. 8, 1994) (Sen. Rockefeller).¹⁴ This *14 Court’s pre-Suter precedents therefore must continue to govern the availability of suits under Section 1983 to enforce provisions of the Social Security Act.

B. Private Enforcement Comports With Principles Of Federalism And The Eleventh Amendment

1. Petitioner’s invocation of “principle[s] of federalism” (Br. 24) to bar recognition of a Section 1983 action must be placed in context. Title IV-D is one of the most generous federal spending programs in existence, financing from 66% to 90% of the States’ child support enforcement efforts. Indeed, most States profit from their Title IV-D programs.¹⁵ This case, therefore, is primarily about how federal money is spent. “Requiring States to honor the obligations voluntarily assumed as a condition of federal funding * * * simply does not intrude on their sovereignty.” Bell v. New Jersey, 461 U.S. 773, 790 (1983).

Child support enforcement, moreover, is not an area of purely local concern. Interstate cases present “one of the most difficult areas of child support enforcement.” S. Rep. No. 387, supra, at 34. The mobility of absent parents makes cooperation among States and uniform national enforcement standards of critical importance. See, e.g., id. at 27; 142 Cong. Rec. H7759 (daily ed. July 17, 1996) (Rep. Roukema) (noting “absolute requirement for interstate enforcement of child support, because the current, State-based system is only as good as its weakest link”).¹⁶

*15 Finally, the administration of welfare programs is an area in which Congress itself has been responsive to the States’ interests and deferred to state autonomy when it found that cause appropriate. The 1996 Act vividly demonstrates that the political process can address state concerns about excessive regulation, entitlements, unfunded mandates, and impediments to experimentation. Congress’s decision in the same Act to carve Title IV-D out for more directive treatment reflects a deliberate determination that the problem of child support in this Nation can be combatted effectively only through a closely coordinated, comprehensive, and vigorously enforced federal-state program. See H.R. Rep. No. 651, 104th Cong., 2d Sess. 1331 (1996).

2. The Eleventh Amendment bars suits against States, not against state officers. Almost 90 years ago, this Court held that the Eleventh Amendment does not bar suits for injunctive relief against state officers. Ex parte Young, 209 U.S. 123, 155-157 (1908). That decision has been consistently reaffirmed. See, e.g., Seminole Tribe of Florida v. Florida, 116 S. Ct. 1114, 1132 (1996); Will v. Michigan Dep’t of State Police, 491 U.S. 58, 71 n.10 (1989); see also Edelman v. Jordan, 415 U.S. 651, 664-668 (1974) (Ex parte Young suit permitted to enforce provisions of Social Security Act). Respondents have not named the State of Arizona or one of its agencies as a defendant in this action. The suit is brought against a state official seeking only injunctive and declaratory relief. The suit thus falls squarely within the traditional boundaries of Ex parte Young and does not transgress the Eleventh Amendment.¹⁷

*16 Petitioner’s reliance (Br. 26-30) on Seminole Tribe is misplaced. The Ex parte Young aspect of that decision was based on statutory construction, not constitutional limitations. 116 S. Ct. at 1133 & n.17. Because “Congress ha [[d] prescribed a detailed remedial scheme for the enforcement against a State of a statutorily created right,” the Court concluded that Congress did not intend to permit an Ex parte Young suit. Id. at 1132. Here, by contrast, there is no “carefully crafted and intricate remedial scheme” that would be rendered “superfluous” (id. at 1132, 1133) by permitting private enforcement under Section 1983. Unlike the statute at issue in Seminole Tribe, Title IV-D contains no alternative avenue for judicial enforcement by non-federal parties in a suit directly against the State itself, and private suits against state officials under Section 1983 in appropriate circumstances would complement the Secretary’s programmatic audit and enforcement powers.

C. Title IV-D Creates Judicially Enforceable Rights

Not every violation of a federal statute constitutes the deprivation of a “right * * * secured by federal law” within the meaning of Section 1983. Golden State Transit Corp. v. City of Los Angeles, 493 U.S. 103, 106 (1989). The statute in question must create judicially enforceable rights. Ibid.; see also Wilder v. Virginia Hosp. Ass’n, 496 U.S. 498, 509 (1990); Pennhurst State Sch. & Hosp. v. Halderman, 451 U.S. 1, 15-30 (1981). A federal statute creates an enforceable “right” if (i) Congress intended the provision in question to benefit the putative plaintiff; (ii) the provision is binding and mandatory on the States, rather than precatory; and (iii) the right is not beyond the competence of the judiciary to enforce. Wilder, 496 U.S. at 509; *17 Golden State, 493 U.S. at 106. All three factors weigh in favor of finding enforceable rights under Title IV-D.¹⁸

1. Needy Children And Their Custodial Parents Are Title IV-D’s Intended Beneficiaries

Title IV-D’s plain language identifies children and custodial parents in need of support services as the intended beneficiaries. Congress enacted the program “[f]or the purpose of enforcing the support obligations owed by absent parents to their children and the spouse * * *, locating absent parents, establishing paternity, obtaining child and spousal support, and assuring that assistance in obtaining support will be available under this part to all children.” 42 U.S.C. 651. Title IV-D offers free (or highly subsidized) child support services to all persons in need of such assistance,¹⁹ and individuals have a right to receive those services regardless of whether they *18 will ultimately prove beneficial.²⁰ Thus, the rights secured by Title IV-D are similar to a statutory right to educational or medical services, which individuals may receive even if they may not actually learn or enjoy better health as a result. See, e.g., Smith v. Robinson, 468 U.S. 992, 1010 (1984). The right to child support services has recently taken on added importance because the 1996 Act’s five-year cap on welfare benefits makes the opportunity for families to secure alternative income sources particularly valuable.²¹

The legislative history confirms that Title IV-D is “a bill of rights for children” and custodial parents. 121 Cong. Rec. 26,541 (1975) (Sen. Nunn). The 1975 Senate Report declared that “children have the right to receive support from their fathers”; that Title IV-D will “help children attain this right, including the right to have their fathers identified so that support can be obtained”; and that Title IV-D’s vigorous implementation will “deter [[] [parents] from deserting their families to welfare and children will be spared the effects of family breakup.” S. Rep. No. 1356, supra, at 42. The 1984 amendments reaffirmed Congress’s commitment to children *19 and their custodial parents. H.R. Rep. No. 527, supra, at 29 (Title IV-D is “aimed at serving children”); S. Rep. No. 387, supra, at 6. Finally, while the 1996 Act provides that some provisions of the Social Security Act do not create individual entitlements (1996 Act, § 103(a)(1), 110 Stat. 2113 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 601(b)), similar language with respect to Title IV-D was not enacted. See H.R. 4, supra. “[W]here Congress includes particular language in one section of a statute but omits it in another section of the same Act, it is generally presumed that Congress acts intentionally and purposely in the disparate inclusion or exclusion.” Brown v. Gardner, 115 S. Ct. 552, 556 (1994); accord John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Harris Trust & Sav. Bank, 510 U.S. 86, 100 (1993) (“we are mindful that Congress had before it, but failed to pass, just such a scheme”).

Petitioner is wrong in arguing (Br. 15, 20-21, 26) that Congress enacted Title IV-D primarily to benefit the public fisc by reducing welfare expenditures. Nothing in Title IV-D’s stated purpose or text evinces such a narrow focus, and the requirement that States offer their services to non-AFDC beneficiaries (who now outnumber AFDC beneficiaries, Nineteenth Annual Report 118) refutes that contention. The 1984 amendments responded to congressional concern that States measured their success “solely in terms of welfare savings,” since “[t]he objectives behind the program are greater than merely recouping federal and state AFDC expenditures.” H.R. Rep. No. 527, supra, at 29-30. Congress intended Title IV-D to effectuate “the larger societal responsibility for making sure that all children receive financial support from both their parents to the fullest extent possible.” Id. at 30; see also S. Rep. No. 1356, supra, at 42 (protection of children is “more important[]” than potential financial benefit to government); 130 Cong. Rec. 9843 (1984) (Sen. Dole). The 1996 Act reaffirms that Title IV-D’s “fundamental goal * * * is to increase the financial *20 security of children.” H.R. Rep. No. 651, supra, at 1440.

Certain of Title IV-D’s provisions, however, do not give rise to enforceable rights because they do not provide for specific child support services or confer individual benefits. See Golden State, 493 U.S. at 106 (plaintiff must show that “the provision in question” benefits her). In particular, the requirement that a State operate its child support program in “substantial compliance” with Title IV-D does not create a right running to individuals. Rather, “substantial compliance” establishes a floor below which a State program’s performance warrants the assessment of financial penalties by the federal government. See, e.g., Albiston v. Maine Comm’r of Human Servs., 7 F.3d 258, 266 (1st Cir. 1993) (substantial compliance “is not * * * the measure of what the regulations require; it is intended to measure how great a failure to meet those requirements should cause funds to be cut off”) (quoting Withrow v. Concannon, 942 F.2d 1385, 1387 (9th Cir. 1991)); cf. Bennett v. Kentucky Dep’t of Educ., 470 U.S. 656, 663-664 (1985). Indeed, the phrase appears in Title IV-A and IV-D only in penalty provisions. See 42 U.S.C. 652(g); 1996 Act, § 103(a)(1), 110 Stat. 2145 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 609(a)(8)).²² Because achieving “substantial compliance” on a program-wide basis is not a distinct child support service for any individual child or parent, the court of appeals erred in finding that standard enforceable under Section 1983. See Pet. App. 14a-15a, 18a.

*21 2. Title IV-D’s Requirements Are Clear And Mandatory

a. Because the enforceable provisions of Title IV-D are concrete, mandatory, and binding, they provide States with ample notice of the services they must provide as a condition of receiving federal funds. See Golden State, 493 U.S. at 106. Title IV-D lists 33 specific requirements that state plans “must provide” for the State to receive Title IV-A and IV-D funds. 42 U.S.C. 654 (e.g., paternity establishment, parent locator service, payment distribution order, collection of overdue child support, interception of federal income tax refunds; services “shall” be made available to non-Title IV-A families). Title IV-D also lists 22 laws that States “must have in effect” (42 U.S.C. 666), and provides that States “shall implement” the procedures under those laws (42 U.S.C. 654(20)); see also 42 U.S.C. 657 (directing how collections “shall be distributed”), 667 (States “must establish guidelines” for child support awards). Likewise, Title IV-D provides for the establishment of time limits within which States “must accept and respond to” requests for services and “must distribute” funds collected. 42 U.S.C. 652(h) and (i). Compare Wilder, 496 U.S. at 512 (requirement that state plan “must provide” for specified manner of payment is mandatory and binding).²³

By contrast, when Congress wished only to encourage state action or to make certain Title IV-D program components and services optional, it spoke in non-binding, precatory terms. See 42 U.S.C. 654(21)(A) (imposition of fees is “at the option of the State”), 668 (States “encouraged” to adopt simplified civil process for paternity establishment in contested cases); 1996 Act, § 904, 110 Stat. 2349 (“sense of the Senate” that States should pursue efforts and adopt pilot programs to collect support *22 from unemployed parents or those who refuse to pay); Pub. L. No. 98-378, § 23(a)(2) and (5), (b)(1), 98 Stat. 1329-1330 (“sense of the Congress” that States should develop measures to enhance enforcement).

b. Title IV-D’s requirements are not only mandatory, but are also spelled out in concrete and specific terms so that States know precisely what is expected of them. Cf. Suter, 503 U.S. at 359-360 (no enforceable right where neither federal statute nor regulations set forth contours of state duties). Title IV-D prescribes in extensive detail the precise components of plan requirements, how services must operate, timeframes for performance, the required content of state laws and administrative procedures, and a specific hierarchy for payment distributions. See 42 U.S.C. 654, 657, 666, 667; 1996 Act, §§ 313(b), 351, 110 Stat. 2210, 2211-2212, 2239 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 653a(b), (e) and (g), 666(a)(10)). The Secretary’s regulations offer even more detailed direction, setting precise time limits for many administrative actions and mapping out specific administrative responses to a variety of child support service requests and problems. 45 C.F.R. Pts. 302, 303.²⁴

Unlike the statutory provision in Suter, then, Title IV-D demands far more of States than the mere submission of a plan that duly recites the obligatory components *23 listed in the Act. Cf. Suter, 503 U.S. at 358; see also 42 U.S.C. 1320a-2 and 1320a-10 (directing application of pre-Suter precedent). Title IV-D specifies what state child support services and laws shall be “in effect.” 42 U.S.C. 654, 657, 666, 667. Indeed, in enacting Title IV-D in 1975, Congress expressed frustration that previous legislation had entailed little more than a “perfunctory review [by the Secretary] of the State plan material submitted by the State to see that it contains the statement that there will be a child support program which complies with the law.” S. Rep. No. 1356, supra, at 47. Congress made clear that such “paper compliance would no longer suffice.” *Ibid.*²⁵

Nor can petitioner fairly claim that Title IV-D requires only “substantial compliance” with its terms. As noted above (see p. 20, supra), “substantial compliance” governs the assessment of penalties against States, and the definition of “substantial compliance” alerts States that it does not express the full measure of their obligations under the program. 42 U.S.C. 603(h)(3) (contrasting “substantial compliance” with a State’s “full compliance with the requirements of this part,” and characterizing any failure to be in full compliance as “noncompliance”); see also Bennett, 470 U.S. at 663 (“substantial compliance” provision in education program is prospective penalty that does not limit duty to comply with statutory conditions); Albiston, 7 F.3d at 266 (“the ‘substantial’ compliance required to avoid administrative penalties * * * is independent of, and narrower than, the State’s direct obligation to AFDC recipients”) (citing Wilder, 496 U.S. at 514-515 & n.11).²⁶

*24 In short, Judge Kleinfeld’s assertion in dissent below that Title IV-D requires only that States “do a pretty good job” (Pet. App. 37a) is irreconcilable with Congress’s provision of major federal funding conditioned on compliance with ever-increasing and detailed statutory directives. Congress’s enduring commitment to “the country’s most neglected children” (Child Support and the Work Bonus: Hearing on S. 1842 & S. 2081 Before the Senate Comm. on Finance, 93d Cong., 1st Sess. 59 (Sept. 25, 1973)) demands more than such casual attention to the task.

c. Petitioner does not dispute the mandatory nature of Title IV-D’s language. Nor does she claim ignorance of the character and caliber of child support services that Title IV-D requires. What petitioner claims instead (Br. 7, 15-16) is that she did not know that those requirements would be enforceable under Section 1983. This Court, however, has required only that the statutory “provision in question” create binding obligations, Golden State, 493 U.S. at 106, and that Congress “express clearly its intent to impose conditions on the grant of federal funds,” Pennhurst, 451 U.S. at 24. This Court has never required Congress, in addition, to notify state officials in advance that a Section 1983 action will be available. Bell, 461 U.S. at 790 n.17 (Pennhurst concerned “imposing an unexpected condition for compliance,” not “the remedies available against a noncomplying State”). None of the statutes at issue in Wilder, Golden State, Thiboutot, or other cases in which this Court found an action under Section 1983 available, contained such language.

In any event, Section 1983’s text and this Court’s cases construing it independently provide sufficient notice. States, therefore, are fairly charged with the knowledge that Section 1983 “must be broadly construed.” *25 Golden State, 493 U.S. at 105, and that a cause of action under Section 1983 “remains a generally and presumptively available remedy for claimed violations of federal law,” Livadas, 114 S. Ct. at 2083. No serious federalism or comity benefit would be gained by requiring Congress to furnish still further and particularized advance notice to state officials that admittedly clear conditions on federal funding may be enforced under Section 1983, especially since such suits would result only in injunctive or declaratory relief requiring state officials to comply with those conditions in the future.

Nor would petitioner’s proposal aid in identifying the “rights” secured by federal law; a provision in Title IV-D confirming the existence of a Section 1983 action would leave open that question. Even when a federal law does create enforceable rights, however, petitioner wants to require that Congress affirmatively confirm that a Section 1983 action is available. The rule is exactly the opposite: “[W]e recognize an exception to the general rule that § 1983 provides a remedy for violation of federal statutory rights only when Congress has affirmatively withdrawn the remedy.” Wilder, 496 U.S. at 509 n.9 (emphasis added); see also Livadas, 114 S. Ct. at 2083; Golden State, 493 U.S. at 107 (burden on defendant to show that Congress has withdrawn Section 1983 remedy). Congress has not done so here. See pp. 27-30, infra.

Petitioner’s proposal is also reminiscent of the failed argument that an express right of action under Section 1983 is available only if an implied right of action would be available. Wilder, 496 U.S. at 508 n.9. As Wilder recognized, Congress has already told the States, through Section 1983, that a cause of action is available to enforce rights created by federal law. Congress said it again (twice) in 1994, with particular reference to enforcement of the Social Security Act, when it enacted 42 U.S.C. 1320a-2 and 1320a-10. Nothing in principles of federalism suggests that it would be appropriate for this Court to compel a coordinate Branch to say again what it has said three times before. Congress, after all, can always *26 “affirmatively withdraw[] the remedy.” Wilder, 496 U.S. at 509 n.9.

3. Some, But Not All, Of Title IV-D’s Child Support Enforcement Provisions Are Judicially Enforceable

A statutory right will not be found if its enforcement “would strain judicial competence.” Livadas, 114 S. Ct. at 2083. Many of the requirements that Title IV-D imposes on state child support services are straightforward administrative and ministerial tasks of a sort that courts can and do routinely enforce. For example, the requirement that a State pay the support it collects to non-Title IV-A families, 42 U.S.C. 657, is a specific, direct, and nondiscretionary duty that courts are fully capable of enforcing.²⁷ Likewise, due to developments in state law and the automation of government records, the requirement that States implement income withholding to enforce child support orders is mechanical and virtually ministerial, at least in cases (like respondents’) in which the father and his source of income have already been located and the support order established. 42 U.S.C. 666(a)(1) and (b); 45 C.F.R. 303.100.

By contrast, Congress has expressly preserved the States’ discretion with respect to other aspects of child support enforcement. For example, although Title IV-D requires States to have laws that permit the imposition of liens, state tax refund intercepts, bond requirements, and references to consumer credit reporting agencies to collect overdue support (42 U.S.C. 666(a)(3), (4), (6) and (7)), States retain discretion to decide in individual cases whether use of those procedures will “carry out the purposes of this part or would be otherwise inappropriate in the circumstances” (42 U.S.C. 666(a)). Because the propriety of such measures “will obviously vary with the circumstances of each individual case,” and because Congress left those enforcement decisions to the States, respondents *27 would not have a right under Section 1983 to force a child support agency to take one of those measures. Suter, 503 U.S. at 360. Similarly, Title IV-D leaves to the State the discretion to “determin[e] when it would be appropriate to take an enforcement action in the future” (45 C.F.R. 303.6(c)(4)), preserving the State’s traditional prosecutorial discretion in deciding which cases to bring to court. Decisions of that sort are not readily susceptible to judicial review or enforcement. See Heckler v. Chaney, 470 U.S. 821, 831-835 (1985); but cf. Dunlop v. Bachowski, 421 U.S. 560 (1975).

In short, whether Title IV-D creates a judicially enforceable right depends upon the nature of the provision a plaintiff seeks to enforce. Because the court of appeals did not order particular relief, it is unnecessary for this Court to parse Title IV-D and its implementing regulations to determine which provisions create rights and which do not, and what remedy would be appropriate for a violation.²⁸ This Court may leave it to the district court on remand to determine which claims are susceptible to judicial enforcement, based on the facts alleged, an evaluation of the applicable statutory and regulatory provisions, and traditional notions of prosecutorial discretion.

D. Congress Has Not Foreclosed Actions Under Section 1983

Even if a federal law creates private rights, judicial enforcement is not available under Section 1983 if Congress has specifically foreclosed that avenue of relief. Golden State, 493 U.S. at 106; see also Robinson, 468 U.S. at 1009-1013; Middlesex County Sewerage Auth. v. National Sea Clammers Ass'n, 453 U.S. 1, 13-20 (1981). This Court, however, “do[es] not lightly conclude that Congress intended to preclude reliance on § 1983 as a remedy for the deprivation of a federally secured right.” Wilder, 496 U.S. at 520 (quoting *28 Wright v. City of Roanoke Redevelopment & Housing Auth., 479 U.S. 418, 423-424 (1987)). Here, nothing in Title IV-D’s text or legislative history suggests that Congress withdrew a Section 1983 remedy, cf. Robinson, 468 U.S. at 1009 (statutory text and legislative history directed that claims be adjudicated through special statutory scheme),²⁹ and individual beneficiaries have no alternative means of vindicating their own Title IV-D rights. Cf. ibid.; Sea Clammers, 453 U.S. at 13-18.³⁰

The Secretary’s triennial audit powers do not displace a private cause of action under Section 1983. As petitioner repeatedly notes, the Secretary audits for “substantial compliance” on a programmatic basis, rather than to vindicate the rights of individual applicants for services. The nature of the Secretary’s task, combined with its infrequency, precludes characterizing it as sufficiently “comprehensive” to foreclose a Section 1983 action. Wilder, 496 U.S. at 521-522; Wright, 479 U.S. at 428 *29 (“generalized powers” “to audit, enforce annual contributions contracts, and cut off federal funds” are “insufficient to indicate a congressional intention to foreclose § 1983 remedies”). In the Secretary’s judgment, under the principles and limitations set forth above, private enforcement of those provisions of Title IV-D that create enforceable rights would furnish an important complement to the Secretary’s necessarily macroscopic oversight of the States, by ensuring that the States carry out the specific duties to children and custodial parents that they have voluntarily assumed under Title IV-D, while at the same time affording protection for the States in those areas Congress has left to their discretion.³¹ Albiston, 7 F.3d at 269 (audit “protect[s] important federal interests * * * [in] overall performance,” while Section 1983 “safeguards the individual AFDC recipient’s interests in the timely receipt of the mandated federal benefits”).³²

*30 Common sense also dictates that the Secretary’s supervisory audit powers do not foreclose private enforcement. Congress has spent the last 20 years legislating in ever-increasing detail the standards for state child support services, and it has given the States billions of dollars of the taxpayers’ money expressly conditioned on their compliance with those standards. Given the amount of money allocated and the breadth and depth of regulation, there is no basis for believing that Congress, in seeking to protect the “millions of women and children who are victimized by the nonpayment of child support” (129 Cong. Rec. 33,037 (1983) (Rep. Biaggi)), intended to rely entirely on a federal audit that occurs only once every three years and that (at least by petitioner’s characterization) disregards whether fully one-fourth of Title IV-D’s targeted beneficiaries is entirely neglected by the system.

*31 CONCLUSION

The judgment of the court of appeals should be affirmed, with provision for remand to the district court for further proceedings with respect to respondents’ particular claims.

*1a APPENDIX

Title IV-D of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. 651 et seq., as amended by the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996, Pub. L. No. 104-193, 110 Stat. 2105, provides¹:

- (A) collection of child support through income withholding;
 - (B) imposition of liens; and
 - (C) administrative subpoenas.
- (b) Certification of child support obligations to Secretary of the Treasury for collection

The Secretary shall, upon the request of any State having in effect a State plan approved under this part, certify to the Secretary of the Treasury for collection pursuant to the provisions of section 6305 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 the amount of any child support obligation (including any support obligation with respect to the parent who is living with the child and receiving aid under the State plan approved under part A assistance under the State program funded under part A of this subchapter) which is assigned to such State or is undertaken to be collected by such State pursuant to section 654\(6\) 654\(4\) of this title. No amount may be certified for collection under this subsection except the amount of the delinquency under a court or administrative order for 9a support and upon a showing by the State that such State has made diligent and reasonable efforts to collect such amounts utilizing its own collection mechanisms, and upon an agreement that the State will reimburse the Secretary of the Treasury for any costs involved in making the collection. All reimbursements shall be credited to the appropriation accounts which bore all or part of the costs involved in making the collections. The Secretary after consultation with the Secretary of the Treasury may, by regulation, establish criteria for accepting amounts for collection and for making certification under this subsection including imposing such limitations on the frequency of making such certifications under this subsection.

- (c) Payment of child support collections to States

The Secretary of the Treasury shall from time to time pay to each State for distribution in accordance with the provisions of section 657 of this title the amount of each collection made on behalf of such State pursuant to subsection (b) of this section.

- (d) Child support management information system

(1) Except as provided in paragraph (3), the Secretary shall not approve the initial and annually updated advance automated data processing planning document, referred to in section 654\(16\) of this title, unless he finds that such document, when implemented, will generally carry out the objectives of the management system referred to in such subsection, and such document--

(A) provides for the conduct of, and reflects the results of, requirements analysis studies, which include consideration of the program mission, functions, organization, services, constraints, and current support, of, in, or relating to, such system.

(B) contains a description of the proposed management system referred to in 10a section 655 \(a\)\(1\)\(B\) of this title, including a description of information flows, input data, and output reports and uses,

(C) sets forth the security and interface requirements to be employed in such management system,

(D) describes the projected resource requirements for staff and other needs, and the resources available or expected to be available to meet such requirements,

(E) contains an implementation plan and backup procedures to handle possible failures,

(F) contains a summary of proposed improvement of such management system in terms of qualitative and quantitative benefits, and

(G) provides such other information as the Secretary determines under regulation is necessary.

(2)(A) The Secretary shall through the separate organizational unit established pursuant to subsection (a) of this section, on a continuing basis, review, assess, and inspect the planning, design, and operation of, management information systems referred to in section 655\(a\)\(1\)\(B\) of this title, with a view to determining whether, and to what extent, such systems meet and continue to meet requirements imposed under paragraph (1) and the conditions specified under section 654\(16\) of this title.

(B) If the Secretary finds with respect to any statewide management information system referred to in section 655\(a\)\(1\)\(B\) of this title that there is a failure substantially to comply with criteria, requirements, and other undertakings, prescribed by the advance automated data processing planning document theretofore approved by the Secretary with respect to such *11a system, then the Secretary shall suspend his approval of such document until there is no longer any such failure of such system to comply with such criteria, requirements, and other undertakings so prescribed.

(3) The Secretary may waive any requirement of paragraph (1) or any condition specified under section 654\(16\) of this title with respect to a State if--

(A) the State demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary that the State has an alternative system or systems that enable the State, for purposes of section 603\(h\) of this title, to be in substantial compliance with other requirements of this part; and

(B) (i) the waiver meets the criteria of paragraphs (1), (2), and (3) of section 1315(c) 1315(b) of this title, or except that no amount shall be paid to any State on account of amounts expended to carry out an agreement which it has entered into pursuant to section 663 of this title. In determining the total amounts expended by any State during a quarter, for purposes of this subsection, there shall be excluded an amount equal to the total of any *60a fees collected or other income resulting from services provided under the plan approved under this part.

(2) Subject to subsection (d) of this section, the Secretary shall then pay, in such installments as he may determine, to the State the amount so estimated, reduced or increased to the extent of any overpayment or underpayment which the Secretary determines was made under this section to such State for any prior quarter and with respect to which adjustment has not already been made under this subsection.

(3) Upon the making of any estimate by the Secretary under this subsection, any appropriations available for payments under this section shall be deemed obligated.

(e) Special project grants for interstate enforcement; appropriations

(1) In order to encourage and promote the development and use of more effective methods of enforcing support obligations under this part in cases where either the children on whose behalf the support is sought or their absent noncustodial parents do not reside in the State where such cases are filed, the Secretary is authorized to make grants, in such amounts and on such terms and conditions as the Secretary determines to be appropriate, to States which propose to undertake new or innovative methods of support collection in such cases and which will use the proceeds of such grants to carry out special projects designed to demonstrate and test such methods.

(2) A grant under this subsection shall be made only upon a finding by the Secretary that the project involved is likely to be of significant assistance in carrying out the purpose of this subsection; and with respect to such project the Secretary may waive any of the requirements of this part which would otherwise be applicable, to such extent and for such period as the Secretary determines is necessary or desirable in order to enable the State to carry out the project.

(3) At the time of its application for a grant under this subsection the State shall submit to the Secretary a statement describing in reasonable detail the project for which the proceeds of the grant are to be used, and the State shall from time to time thereafter submit to the Secretary such reports with respect to the project as the Secretary may specify.

(f)(b) The Secretary may, in appropriate cases, make direct payments under this part to an Indian tribe or tribal organization which has an approved child support enforcement plan under this title. In determining whether such payments are appropriate, the Secretary shall, at a minimum, consider whether services are being provided to eligible Indian recipients by the State agency through an agreement entered into pursuant to section 654(34).

Sec. 656. Support obligation as obligation to State; amount; discharge in bankruptcy

(a)(1) The support rights assigned to the State under section 602(a)(26) of this title or secured on behalf of a child receiving foster care maintenance payments shall constitute an obligation owed to such State by the individual responsible for providing such support. Sec. 658. Incentive payments to States

(a) Purpose: requirement; quarterly payments

In order to encourage and reward State child support enforcement programs which perform in a cost-effective and efficient manner to secure support for all children who have sought assistance in securing support, whether such children reside within the State or elsewhere and whether or not they are eligible for aid to families with dependent children under a State plan approved under part A of this subchapter assistance under a program funded under part A, and regardless of the economic circumstances of their parents, the Secretary shall, from support collected which would otherwise represent the Federal share of assistance to families of absent noncustodial parents, pay to each state for each fiscal year, on a quarterly basis (as described in subsection (e) of this section) beginning with the quarter commencing October 1, 1985, an incentive payment in an amount determined under subsection (b) of this section.

(b) Incentive formula

(1) Except as provided in paragraphs (2), (3), and (4), the incentive payment shall be equal to--

76a (A) 6 percent of the total amount of support collected under the plan during the fiscal year in cases in which the support obligation involved is assigned to the State pursuant to section 602\(a\)\(26\) 608\(a\)\(3\) or section 671\(a\)\(17\) of this title (and such total amount for any fiscal year being hereafter referred to in this section as the State's "AFDC collections title IV-A collections" for that year), plus

(B) 6 percent of the total amount of support collected during the fiscal year in all other cases under this part (with such total amount for any fiscal year being hereafter referred to in this section as the State's "non/AFDC collections non-title IV-A collections" for that year).

(2) If subsection (c) of this section applies with respect to a State's AFDC collections title IV-A collections or non-AFDC collections non-title IV-A collections for any fiscal year, the percent specified in paragraph (1)(A) or (B) (with respect to such collections) shall be increased to the higher percent determined under such subsection (with respect to such collections) in determining the State's incentive payment under this subsection for that year.

(3) The dollar amount of the portion of the State's incentive payment for any fiscal year which is determined on the basis of its non/AFDC collections non-title IV-A collections under paragraph (1) (B) (after adjustment under subsection (c) of this section if applicable) shall in no case exceed--

(A) the dollar amount of the portion of such payment which is determined on the basis of its AFDC collections title IV-A collections under paragraph (1)(A) (after adjustment under subsection (c) of this section if applicable) in the case of fiscal year 1986 or 1987;

77a (B) 105 percent of such dollar amount in the case of fiscal year 1988;

In computing incentive payments under this section, support which is collected by one State at the request of another State shall be treated as having been collected in full by each such State, and any amounts expended by the State in carrying out a special project assisted under section 655\(e\) of this title shall be excluded.

(e) Estimates by Secretary; quarterly payments

The amounts of the incentive payments to be made to the various States under this section for any fiscal year shall be estimated by the Secretary at or before the beginning of such year on the basis of the best information available. The Secretary shall make such payments for such year, on a quarterly basis (with each quarterly payment being made no later than the beginning of the quarter involved), in the amounts so estimated, reduced or increased to the extent of any overpayments or underpayments which the Secretary determines were made under this section to the States involved for prior periods and with respect to which adjustment has not already been made under this subsection. Such process shall be accompanied by sufficient data to permit prompt identification of the individual and the moneys involved.

(c) Disclosure of information in answering interrogatories; disciplinary action or civil or criminal liability or penalty prohibited

80a No Federal employee whose duties include responding to interrogatories pursuant to requirements imposed by section 661(b)(3) of this title shall be subject under any law to any disciplinary action or civil or criminal liability or penalty for, or on account of, any disclosure of information made by him in connection with the carrying out of any of his duties which pertain (directly or indirectly) to the answering of any such interrogatory.

(d) Notice

(b) Regulations; contents, etc.

(1) The Secretary of the Treasury shall issue regulations, approved by the Secretary of Health and Human Services, prescribing the time or times at which States must submit notices of past-due support, the manner in which such notices must be submitted, and the necessary information that must be contained in or accompany the notices. The regulations shall be consistent with the provisions of subsection (a)(3) of this section, shall specify the minimum 104a amount of past-due support to which the offset procedure established by subsection (a) of this section may be applied, and the fee that a State must pay to reimburse the Secretary of the Treasury for the full cost of applying the offset procedure, and shall provide that the Secretary of the Treasury will advise the Secretary of Health and Human Services, not less frequently than annually, of the States which have furnished notices of past-due support under subsection (a) of this section, the number of cases in each State with respect to which such notices have been furnished, the amount of support sought to be collected under this subsection by each State, and the amount of such collections actually made in the case of each State. Any fee paid to the Secretary of the Treasury pursuant to this subsection may be used to reimburse appropriations which bore all or part of the cost of applying such procedure.

(2) In the case of withholdings made under subsection (a)(2) of this section, the regulations promulgated pursuant to this subsection shall include the following requirements:

(A) The withholding shall apply only in the case where the State determines that the amount of the past-due support which will be owed at the time the withholding is to be made, based upon the pattern of payment of support and other enforcement actions being pursued to collect the past-due support, is equal to or greater than $500. The State may limit the $500 threshold amount to amounts of past-due support accrued since the time that the State first began to enforce the child support order involved under the State plan, and may limit the application of the withholding to past-due support accrued since such time.

(B) The fee which the Secretary of the Treasury may impose to cover the costs of the withholding 105a and notification may not exceed $25 per case submitted.

(c) “Past-due support” defined

(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), as used in this part the term “past-due support” means the amount of a delinquency, determined under a court order, or an order of an administrative process established under State law, for support and maintenance of a child, or of a child and the parent with whom the child is living.

(2) For purposes of subsection (a)(2) of this section, the term “past-due support” means only past-due support owed to or on behalf of a qualified child (or a qualified child and the parent with whom the child is living if the same support order includes support for the child and the parent).

(3) For purposes of paragraph (2), the term “qualified child” means a child--

(A) who is a minor; or

(B)(i) who, while a minor, was determined to be disabled under subchapter II or XVI of this chapter; and

(ii) for whom an order of support is in force.

Sec. 665. Allotments from pay for child and spousal support owed by members of uniformed services on active duty

(a) Mandatory allotment; notice upon failure to make; amount of allotment; adjustment or discontinuance; consultation

(1) In any case in which child support payments or child and spousal support payments are owed by a member of one of the uniformed services (as defined in section 101\(3\) of title 37) on active duty, 106a such member shall be required to make allotments from his pay and allowances (under chapter 13 of title 37) as payment of such support, when he has failed to make periodic payments under a support order that meets the criteria specified in section 1673\(b\)\(1\)\(A\) of title 15 and the resulting delinquency in such payments is in a total amount equal to the support payable for two months or longer. Failure to make such payments shall be established by notice from an authorized person (as defined in subsection (b) of this section) to the designated official in the appropriate uniformed service. Such notice (which shall in turn be given to the affected member) shall also specify the person to whom the allotment is to be payable. The amount of the allotment shall be the amount necessary to comply with the order (which, if the order so provides, may include arrearages as well as amounts for current support), except that the amount of the allotment, together with any other amounts withheld for support from the wages of the member, as a percentage of his pay from the uniformed service, shall not exceed the limits prescribed in sections 1673\(b\) and \(c\) of title 15. An allotment under this subsection shall be adjusted or discontinued upon notice from the authorized person.

(2) Notwithstanding the preceding provisions of this subsection, no action shall be taken to require an allotment from the pay and allowances of any member of one of the uniformed services under such provisions (A) until such member has had a consultation with a judge advocate of the service involved (as defined in section 801\(13\) of title 10), or with a law specialist (as defined in section 801\(11\) of such title) in the case of the Coast Guard, or with a legal officer designated by the Secretary concerned (as defined in section 101\(5\) of title 37) in any 107a other case, in person, to discuss the legal and other factors involved with respect to the member’s support obligation and his failure to make payments thereon, or (B) until 30 days have elapsed after the notice described in the second sentence of paragraph (1) is given to the affected member in any case where it has not been possible, despite continuing good faith efforts, to arrange such a consultation.

(b) “Authorized person” defined

For purposes of this section the term “authorized person” with respect to any member of the uniformed services means--

(1) any agent or attorney of a State having in effect a plan approved under this part who has the duty or authority under such plan to seek to recover any amounts owed by such member as child or child and spousal support (including, when authorized under the State plan, any official of a political subdivision); and

(2) the court which has authority to issue an order against such member for the support and maintenance of a child, or any agent of such court.

(c) Regulations

The Secretary of Defense, in the case of the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps, and the Secretary concerned (as defined in section 101\(5\) of title 37) in the case of each of the other uniformed services, shall each issue regulations applicable to allotments to be made under this section, designating the officials to whom notice of failure to make support payments, or notice to discontinue or adjust an allotment, should be given, prescribing the form and content of the notice and specifying any other rules necessary for such Secretary to implement this section.

108a Sec. 666. Requirement of statutorily prescribed procedures to improve effectiveness of child support enforcement

(a) Types of procedures required

In order to satisfy section 654\(20\)\(A\) of this title, each State must have in effect laws requiring the use of the following procedures, consistent with this section and with regulations of the Secretary, to increase the effectiveness of the program which the State administers under this part:

(1) Procedures described in subsection (b) of this section for the withholding from income of amounts payable as support.

(1)(A) Procedures described in subsection (b) for the withholding from income of amounts payable as support in cases subject to enforcement under the State plan.

(B) Procedures under which the income of a person with a support obligation imposed by a support order issued (or modified) in the State before October 1, 1996, if not otherwise subject to withholding under subsection (b), shall become subject to withholding as provided in subsection (b) if arrearages occur, without the need for a judicial or administrative hearing.

(2) Procedures under which expedited processes (determined in accordance with regulations of the Secretary) are in effect under the State judicial system or under State administrative processes (A) for obtaining and enforcing support orders, and (B) for establishing paternity. Expedited administrative and judicial procedures (including the procedures specified in subsection (c)) for establishing paternity and for establishing, modifying, and enforcing support obligations. The Secretary may waive the provisions *109a of this paragraph with respect to one or more political subdivisions within the State on the basis of the effectiveness and timeliness of support order issuance and enforcement or paternity establishment within the political subdivision (in accordance with the general rule for exemptions under subsection (d) of this section).

(3) Procedures under which the State child support enforcement agency shall request, and the State shall provide, that for the purpose of enforcing a support order under any State plan approved under this part--

(A) any refund of State income tax which would otherwise be payable to an absent a noncustodial parent will be reduced, after notice has been sent to that absent noncustodial parent of the proposed reduction and the procedures to be followed to contest it (and after full compliance with all procedural due process requirements of the State), by the amount of any overdue support owed by such absent noncustodial parent;

(B) the amount by which such refund is reduced shall be distributed in accordance with section 657\(b\)\(4\) or \(d\)\(3\) of this title in the case of overdue support assigned to a State pursuant to section 602\(a\)\(26\) 608\(a\)\(3\) or 671\(a\)\(17\) of this title, or, in the case of overdue support which a State has agreed to collect under section 654\(6\) in any other case of this title, shall be distributed, after deduction of any fees imposed by the State to cover the costs of collection, to the child or parent to whom such support is owed; and

(C) notice of the absent noncustodial parent's social security account number (or numbers, if he has more than one such number) 110a and home address shall be furnished to the State agency requesting the refund offset, and to the State agency enforcing the order.

(4) Procedures under which liens are imposed against real and personal property for amounts of overdue support owed by an absent parent who resides or owns property in the State.

(4) Liens.--Procedures under which--

(A) liens arise by operation of law against real and personal property for amounts of overdue support owed by a noncustodial parent who resides or owns property in the State; and

(B) the State accords full faith and credit to liens described in subparagraph (A) arising in another State, when the State agency, party, or other entity seeking to enforce such a lien complies with the procedural rules relating to recording or serving liens that arise within the State, except that such rules may not require judicial notice or hearing prior to the enforcement of such a lien.

(5)(A)(i) Procedures which permit the establishment of the paternity of any child at any time prior to such child's eighteenth birthday.

(ii) As of August 16, 1984, the requirement of clause (i) shall also apply to any child for whom paternity has not yet been established and any child for whom a paternity action was brought but dismissed because a statute of limitations of less than 18 years was then in effect in the State.

(B) Procedures under which the State is required (except in cases where the individual involved has been found under section 602\(a\) \(26\)\(B\) of this title to have good cause for refusing 111a to cooperate) to require the child and all other parties, in a contested paternity case, to submit to genetic tests upon the request of any such party.

(C) Procedures for a simple civil process for voluntarily acknowledging paternity under which the State must provide that the rights and responsibilities of acknowledging paternity are explained and ensure that due process safeguards are afforded. Such procedures must include a hospital-based program for the voluntary acknowledgment of paternity during the period immediately before or after the birth of a child.

(D) Procedures under which the voluntary acknowledgment of paternity creates a rebuttable, or at the option of the State, conclusive presumption of paternity, and under which such voluntary acknowledgment is admissible as evidence of paternity.

(E) Procedures under which the voluntary acknowledgment of paternity must be recognized as a basis for seeking a support order without requiring any further proceedings to establish paternity.

(F) Procedures which provide that (i) any objection to genetic testing results must be made in writing within a specified number of days before any hearing at which such results may be introduced into evidence, and (ii) if no objection is made, the test results are admissible as evidence of paternity without the need for foundation testimony or other proof of authenticity or accuracy.

112a (G) Procedures which create a rebuttable or, at the option of the State, conclusive presumption of paternity upon genetic testing results indicating a threshold probability that the alleged father is the father of the child.

(H) Procedures requiring a default order to be entered in a paternity case upon a showing of service of process on the defendant and any additional showing required by State law.

(5) Procedures concerning paternity establishment.--

(A) Establishment process available from birth until age 18.--

(B) Procedures concerning genetic testing.--

(i) Genetic testing required in certain contested cases.--Procedures under which the State is required, in a contested paternity case (unless otherwise barred by State law) to require the child and all other parties (other than individuals found under section 654\(29\) to have good cause and other exceptions for refusing to cooperate) to submit to genetic tests upon the request 113a of any such party, if the request is supported by a sworn statement by the party--

(I) alleging paternity, and setting forth facts establishing a reasonable possibility of the requisite sexual contact between the parties; or

(II) denying paternity, and setting forth facts establishing a reasonable possibility of the nonexistence of sexual contact between the parties.

(ii) Other requirements.--Procedures which require the State agency, in any case in which the agency orders genetic testing--

(II) to obtain additional testing in any case if an original test result is contested, upon request and advance payment by the contestant.

(C) Voluntary paternity acknowledgment.--

(i) Simple civil process.--Procedures for a simple civil process for voluntarily acknowledging paternity under which the State must provide that, before a mother and a putative father can sign an acknowledgment of paternity, the mother and the putative father must be given notice, orally and in writing, of the alternatives to, the legal consequences of, and the rights (including, if 1 parent is a minor, any rights afforded due to minority status) and responsibilities that arise from, signing the acknowledgment.

(bb) Services offered by other entities.--The Secretary shall prescribe regulations specifying the types of other entities that may offer voluntary paternity establishment services, and governing the provision of such services which shall include a requirement that such an entity must use the same notice provisions used by, use the same materials used by, provide the personnel providing such services with the same training provided by, and evaluate the provision of such services in the same manner as the provision of such services is evaluated by, voluntary paternity establishment *115a programs of hospitals and birth record agencies.

(iv) Use of paternity acknowledgment affidavit.--Such procedures must require the State to develop and use an affidavit for the voluntary acknowledgment of paternity which includes the minimum requirements of the affidavit specified by the Secretary under section 652(a)(7) for the voluntary acknowledgment of paternity, and to give full faith and credit to such an affidavit signed in any other State according to its procedures.

(D) Status of signed paternity acknowledgment.--

(i) Inclusion in birth records.--Procedures under which the name of the father shall be included on the record of birth of the child of unmarried parents only if--

(I) the father and mother have signed a voluntary acknowledgment of paternity; or

(II) a court or an administrative agency of competent jurisdiction has issued an adjudication of paternity.

Nothing in this clause shall preclude a State agency from obtaining an admission of paternity from the father for submission in a judicial or administrative proceeding, or prohibit the issuance of an order in a judicial or administrative proceeding which bases a legal finding of paternity on an admission of paternity by the father and any other additional showing required by State law.

*116a (ii) Legal finding of paternity.--Procedures under which a signed voluntary acknowledgment of paternity is considered a legal finding of paternity, subject to the right of any signatory to rescind the acknowledgment within the earlier of--

(I) 60 days; or

(II) the date of an administrative or judicial proceeding relating to the child (including a proceeding to establish a support order) in which the signatory is a party.

(iii) Contest.--Procedures under which, after the 60-day period referred to in clause (ii), a signed voluntary acknowledgment of paternity may be challenged in court only on the basis of fraud, duress, or material mistake of fact, with the burden of proof upon the challenger, and under which the legal responsibilities (including child support obligations) of any signatory arising from the acknowledgment may not be suspended during the challenge, except for good cause shown.

(L) Standing of putative fathers.--Procedures ensuring that the putative father has a reasonable opportunity to initiate a paternity action.

(M) Filing of acknowledgments and adjudications in State registry of birth records.--Procedures under which voluntary acknowledgments and adjudications of paternity by judicial or administrative processes are filed with the State registry of birth records for comparison with information in the State case registry.

(6) Procedures which require that an absent a noncustodial parent give security, post a bond, or give some other guarantee to secure payment of overdue support, after notice has been sent to such absent noncustodial parent of the proposed action and of the procedures to be followed to contest it (and after full compliance with all procedural due process requirements of the State).

(7) Procedures which require the State to periodically report to consumer reporting agencies (as defined in section 1681a(f) of title 15) the name of any parent who owes overdue support and is at least 2 months delinquent in the payment of such support and the amount of such delinquency; except that (A) if the amount of the overdue support involved in any case is less than $1,000, information regarding *119a such amount shall be made available only at the option of the State, (B) any information with respect to an absent parent shall be made available under such procedures only after notice has been sent to such absent parent of the proposed action, and such absent parent has been given a reasonable opportunity to contest the accuracy of such information (and after full compliance with all procedural due process requirements of the State), and (C) such information shall not be made available to (i) a consumer reporting agency which the State determines does not have sufficient capacity to systematically and timely make accurate use of such information, or (ii) an entity which has not furnished evidence satisfactory to the State that the entity is a consumer reporting agency.

(i) The wages income of an absent a noncustodial parent shall be subject to withholding, regardless of whether support payments by such parents are in arrears, on the effective date of the order; except that such wages income shall not be subject to withholding under this clause in any case where (I) one of the parties demonstrates, and the court (or administrative process) finds, that there is good cause not to require immediate income withholding, or (II) a written agreement is reached between both parties which provides for an alternative arrangement.

(ii) The requirements of subsection (b)(1) of this section (which shall apply in the case of each absent noncustodial 121a parent against whom a support order is or has been issued or modified in the State, without regard to whether the order is being enforced under the State plan).

(C) not subject to retroactive modification by such State or by any other State; except that such procedures may permit modification with respect to any period during which there is pending a petition for modification, but only from the date that notice of such petition has been given, either directly or through the appropriate agent, to the obligee or (where the obligee is the petitioner) to the obligor.

(10)(A) Procedures to ensure that, beginning 2 years after October 13, 1988, if the State determines (pursuant to a plan indicating how and when child 122a support orders in effect in the State are to be periodically reviewed and adjusted) that a child support order being enforced under this part should be reviewed, the State must, at the request of either parent subject to the order, or of a State child support enforcement agency, initiate a review of such order, and adjust such order, as change in circumstances, adjust the *125a order in accordance with the guidelines established pursuant to section 667\(a\).

(C) Notice of right to review.--Procedures which require the State to provide notice not less than once every 3 years to the parents subject to the order informing the parents of their right to request the State to review and, if appropriate, adjust the order pursuant to this paragraph. (i) for any disclosure of information to the State agency under subparagraph (A)(i);

(ii) for encumbering or surrendering any assets held by such financial institution in response to a notice of lien or levy issued by the State agency as provided for in subparagraph (A)(ii); or

(iii) for any other action taken in good faith to comply with the requirements of subparagraph (A).

(D) Definitions.--For purposes of this paragraph--

(i) Financial institution.--The term ‘financial institution’ has the meaning given to such term by section 669A(d)(1).

(ii) Account.--The term 'account' means a demand deposit account, checking or negotiable withdrawal order account, savings account, time deposit account, or money-market mutual fund account.

(18) Enforcement of orders against paternal or maternal grandparents.-- Procedures under which, at the State's option, any child support order enforced under this part with respect to a child of minor parents, if the custodial parent of such child is receiving assistance under the State program under part A, shall be enforceable, jointly and severally, against the parents of the noncustodial parent of such child.

130a (19) Health care coverage.--Procedures under which all child support orders enforced pursuant to this part shall include a provision for the health care coverage of the child, and in the case in which a noncustodial parent provides such coverage and changes employment, and the new employer provides health care coverage, the State agency shall transfer notice of the provision to the employer, which notice shall operate to enroll the child in the noncustodial parent's health plan, unless the noncustodial parent contests the notice.

Notwithstanding section 654(20)(B) of this title, the procedures which are required under paragraphs (3), (4), (6), and (7)(7), and (15) need not be used or applied in cases where the State determines (using guidelines which are generally available within the State and which take into account the payment record of the absent noncustodial parent, the availability of other remedies, and other relevant considerations) that such use or application would not carry out the purposes of this part or would be otherwise inappropriate in the circumstances.

(b) Withholding from income of amounts payable as support

The procedures referred to in subsection (a)(1) subsection (a)(1)(A) of this section (relating to the withholding from income of amounts payable as support) must provide for the following:

(1) In the case of each absent noncustodial parent against whom a support order is or has been issued or modified in the State, and is being enforced under the State plan, so much of such parent's wages (as defined by the State for purposes of this section) income must be withheld, in accordance with the succeeding provisions of this subsection, as is necessary to comply with the order and provide for the payment of any fee to the employer which may be 131a required under paragraph (6)(A), up to the maximum amount permitted under section 1673(b) of title 15. If there are arrearages to be collected, amounts withheld to satisfy such arrearages, when added to the amounts withheld to pay current support and provide for the fee, may not exceed the limit permitted under such section 1673(b), but the State need not withhold up to the maximum amount permitted under such section in order to satisfy arrearages.

(2) Such withholding must be provided without the necessity of any application therefor in the case of a child (whether or not eligible for aid assistance under a State program funded under part A of this subchapter) with respect to whom services are already being provided under the State plan under this part, and must be provided in accordance with this subsection on the basis of an application for services under the State plan in the case of any other child in whose behalf a support order has been issued or modified in the State. In either case such withholding must occur without the need for any amendment to the support order involved or for any further action (other than those actions required under this part) by the court or other entity which issued such order.

(3)(A) The wages income of an absent a noncustodial parent shall be subject to such withholding, regardless of whether support payments by such parents are in arrears, in the case of a support order being enforced under this part that is issued or modified on or after the first day of the 25th month beginning after October 13, 1988, on the effective date of the order; except that such wages income shall not be subject to such withholding under this subparagraph in any case where (i) one of the parties demonstrates, and the court (or administrative process) 132a finds, that there is good cause not to require immediate income withholding, or (ii) a written agreement is reached between both parties which provides for an alternative arrangement.

(B) The wages income of an absent a noncustodial parent shall become subject to such withholding, in the case of wages income not subject to withholding under subparagraph (A), on the date on which the payments which the absent noncustodial parent has failed to make under a support order are at least equal to the support payable for one month or, if earlier, and without regard to whether there is an arrearage, the earliest of--

- (i) the date as of which the absent noncustodial parent requests that such withholding begin,
- (ii) the date as of which the custodial parent requests that such withholding begin, if the State determines, in accordance with such procedures and standards as it may establish, that the request should be approved, or
- (iii) such earlier date as the State may select.

(4)(A) Such withholding must be carried out in full compliance with all procedural due process requirements of the State, and (subject to subparagraph (B)) the State must send advance notice to each absent parent to whom paragraph (1) applies regarding the proposed withholding and the procedures such absent parent should follow if he or she desires to contest such withholding on the grounds that withholding (including the amount to be withheld) is not proper in the case involved because of mistakes of 133a fact. If the absent parent contests such withholding on those grounds, the State shall determine whether such withholding will actually occur, shall (within no more than 45 days after the provision of such advance notice) inform such parent of whether or not withholding will occur and (if so) of the date on which it is to begin, and shall furnish such parent with the information contained in any notice given to the employer under paragraph (6)(A) with respect to such withholding.

(B) The requirement of advance notice set forth in the first sentence of subparagraph (A) shall not apply in the case of any State which has a system of income withholding for child support purposes in effect on August 16, 1984, if such system provides on that date, and continues to provide, such procedures as may be necessary to meet the procedural due process requirements of State law.

(4)(A) Such withholding must be carried out in full compliance with all procedural due process requirements of the State, and the State must send notice to each noncustodial parent to whom paragraph (1) applies--

- (i) that the withholding has commenced; and
- (ii) of the procedures to follow if the noncustodial parent desires to contest such withholding on the grounds that the withholding or the amount withheld is improper due to a mistake of fact.

(B) The notice under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall include the information provided to the employer under paragraph (6)(A).

134a (5) Such withholding must be administered by a public agency designated by the State, and the amounts withheld must be expeditiously distributed by the State or such agency in accordance with section 657 of this title under procedures (specified by the State) adequate to document payments of support and to track and monitor such payments, except that the State may establish or permit the establishment of alternative procedures for the collection and distribution of such amounts (under the supervision of such public agency) otherwise than through such public agency so long as the entity making such collection and distribution is publicly accountable for its actions taken in carrying out such procedures, and so long as such procedures will assure prompt distribution, provide for the keeping of adequate records to document payments of support, and permit the tracking and monitoring of such payments the State through the State disbursement unit established pursuant to section 654B, in accordance with the requirements of section 654B.

(6)(A)(i) The employer of any absent noncustodial parent to whom paragraph (1) applies, upon being given notice as described in clause (ii), must be required to withhold from such absent noncustodial parent's wages income the amount specified by such notice (which may include a fee, established by the State, to be paid to the employer unless waived by such employer) and pay such amount (after deducting and retaining any portion thereof which represents the fee so established) to the appropriate agency (or other entity authorized to collect the amounts withheld under the alternative procedures described in paragraph (5)) for distribution in accordance with section 657 of this title to the State disbursement unit within 7 business days after the date the amount would (but for this subsection) have been paid or credited to the employee, for distribution 135a in accordance with this part. The employer shall withhold funds as directed in the notice, except that when an employer receives an income withholding order issued by another State, the employer shall apply the income withholding law of the state of the obligor's principal place of employment in determining--

- (I) the employer's fee for processing an income withholding order;
- (II) the maximum amount permitted to be withheld from the obligor's income;
- (III) the time periods within which the employer must implement the income withholding order and forward the child support payment;
- (IV) the priorities for withholding and allocating income withheld for multiple child support obligees; and
- (V) any withholding terms or conditions not specified in the order.

An employer who complies with an income withholding notice that is regular on its face shall not be subject to civil liability to any individual or agency for conduct in compliance with the notice.

(ii) The notice given to the employer shall be in a standard format prescribed by the Secretary, and contain only such information as may be necessary for the employer to comply with the withholding order.

(iii) As used in this subparagraph, the term 'business day' means a day on which State offices are open for regular business.

(B) Methods must be established by the State to simplify the withholding process for 136a employers to the greatest extent possible, including permitting any employer to combine all withheld amounts into a single payment to each appropriate agency or entity (with the portion thereof which is attributable to each individual employee being separately designated).

(C) The employer must be held liable to the State for any amount which such employer fails to withhold from wages income due an employee following receipt by such employer of proper notice under subparagraph (A), but such employer shall not be required to vary the normal pay and disbursement cycles in order to comply with this paragraph.

(D) Provision must be made for the imposition of a fine against any employer who discharges from employment, refuses to employ, or takes disciplinary action against any absent parent subject to wage withholding required by this subsection because of the existence of such withholding and the obligations or additional obligations which it imposes upon the employer, any employer who--

(i) discharges from employment, refuses to employ, or takes disciplinary action against any noncustodial parent subject to income withholding required by this subsection because of the existence of such withholding and the obligations or additional obligations which it imposes upon the employer; or

(ii) fails to withhold support from income or to pay such amounts to the State disbursement unit in accordance with this subsection.

137a (7) Support collection under this subsection must be given priority over any other legal process under State law against the same wages income.

(8) The State may take such actions as may be necessary to extend its system of withholding under this subsection so that such system will include withholding from forms of income other than wages, in order to assure that child support owed by absent parents in the State will be collected without regard to the types of such absent parents' income or the nature of their income-producing activities.

(8) For purposes of subsection (a) and this subsection, the term 'income' means any periodic form of payment due to an individual, regardless of source, including wages, salaries, commissions, bonuses, worker's compensation, disability, payments pursuant to a pension or retirement program, and interest.

(9) The State must extend its withholding system under this subsection so that such system will include withholding from income derived within such State in cases where the applicable support orders were issued in other States, in order to assure that child support owed by absent noncustodial parents in such State or any other State will be collected without regard to the residence of the child for whom the support is payable or of such child's custodial parent.

(10) Provision must be made for terminating withholding.

(11) Procedures under which the agency administering the State plan approved under this part may execute a withholding order without advance notice to the obligor, including issuing the withholding order through electronic means.

138a (c) Administration of support payments through State agency or other entity

Any State may at its option, under its plan approved under section 654 of this title, establish procedures under which support payments under this part will be made through the State agency or other entity which administers the State's income withholding system in any case where either the absent parent or the custodial parent requests it, even though no arrearages in child support payments are involved and no income withholding procedures have been instituted; but in any such case an annual fee for handling and processing such payments, in an amount not exceeding the actual costs incurred by the State in connection therewith or $25, whichever is less, shall be imposed on the requesting parent by the State. [REPEALED]

(c) Expedited procedures.--The procedures specified in this subsection are the following:

(1) Administrative action by State agency.--Procedures which give the State agency the authority to take the following actions relating to establishment of paternity or to establishment, modification, or enforcement of support orders, without the necessity of obtaining an order from any other judicial or administrative tribunal, and to recognize and enforce the authority of State agencies of other States to take the following actions:

(A) Genetic testing.--To order genetic testing for the purpose of paternity establishment as provided in section 666\(a\)\(5\).

(B) Financial or other information.--To subpoena any financial or other information needed to establish, modify, or enforce a support order, and to impose penalties for failure to respond to such a subpoena.

139a (C) Response to State agency request.--To require all entities in the State (including forprofit, nonprofit, and governmental employers) to provide promptly, in response to a request by the State agency of that or any other State administering a program under this part, information on the employment, compensation, and benefits of any individual employed by such entity as an employee or contractor, and to sanction failure to respond to any such request.

(D) Access to information contained in certain records.--To obtain access, subject to safeguards on privacy and information security, and subject to the nonliability of entities that afford such access under this subparagraph, to information contained in the following records (including automated access, in the case of records maintained in automated data bases):

(i) Records of other State and local government agencies, including--

(I) vital statistics (including records of marriage, birth, and divorce);

(II) State and local tax and revenue records (including information on residence address, employer, income and assets);

(III) records concerning real and titled personal property;

(IV) records of occupational and professional licenses, and records concerning the ownership and control of corporations, partnerships, and other business entities;

(V) employment security records;

(VI) records of agencies administering public assistance programs;

140a (VII) records of the motor vehicle department; and

(VIII) corrections records.

(ii) Certain records held by private entities with respect to individuals who owe or are owed support (or against or with respect to whom a support obligation is sought), or consisting of--

(I) the names and addresses of such individuals and the names and addresses of the employers of such individuals, as appearing in customer records of public utilities and cable television companies, pursuant to an administrative subpoena authorized by subparagraph (B); and

(II) information (including information on assets and liabilities) on such individuals held by financial institutions.

(E) Change in payee.--In cases in which support is subject to an assignment in order to comply with a requirement imposed pursuant to part A or section 1912, or to a requirement to pay through the State disbursement unit established pursuant to section 654B, upon providing notice to obligor and obligee, to direct the obligor or other payor to change the payee to the appropriate government entity.

(F) Income withholding.--To order income withholding in accordance with subsections \(a\)\(1\)\(A\) and \(b\) of section 666.

(G) Securing assets.--In cases in which there is a support arrearage, to secure assets to satisfy the arrearage by--

141a (i) intercepting or seizing periodic or lump-sum payments from--

(I) a State or local agency, including unemployment compensation, workers' compensation, and other benefits; and

(II) judgments, settlements, and lotteries;

(ii) attaching and seizing assets of the obligor held in financial institutions;

(iii) attaching public and private retirement funds; and

(iv) imposing liens in accordance with subsection (a)(4) and, in appropriate cases, to force sale of property and distribution of proceeds.

(H) Increase monthly payments.--For the purpose of securing overdue support, to increase the amount of monthly support payments to include amounts for arrearages, subject to such conditions or limitations as the State may provide.

Such procedures shall be subject to due process safeguards, including (as appropriate) requirements for notice, opportunity to contest the action, and opportunity for an appeal on the record to an independent administrative or judicial tribunal.

(2) Substantive and procedural rules.--The expedited procedures required under subsection (a)(2) shall include the following rules and authority, applicable with respect to all proceedings to establish paternity or to establish, modify, or enforce support orders:

(A) Locator information; presumptions concerning notice.--Procedures under which--

142a (i) each party to any paternity or child support proceeding is required (subject to privacy safeguards) to file with the tribunal and the State case registry upon entry of an order, and to update as appropriate, information on location and identity of the party, including social security number, residential and mailing addresses, telephone number, driver's license number, and name, address, and telephone number of employer; and

(ii) in any subsequent child support enforcement action between the parties, upon sufficient showing that diligent effort has been made to ascertain the location of such a party, the tribunal may deem State due process requirements for notice and service of process to be met with respect to the party, upon delivery of written notice to the most recent residential or employer address filed with the tribunal pursuant to clause (i).

(B) Statewide jurisdiction.--Procedures under which--

(i) the State agency and any administrative or judicial tribunal with authority to hear child support and paternity cases exerts statewide jurisdiction over the parties; and

143a (3) Coordination with ERISA.--Notwithstanding subsection (d) of section 514 of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (relating to effect on other laws), nothing in this subsection shall be construed to alter, amend, modify, invalidate, impair, or supersede subsections (a), (b), and (c) of such section 514 as it applies with respect to any procedure referred to in paragraph (1) and any expedited procedure referred to in paragraph (2), except to the extent that such procedure would be consistent with the requirements of section 206(d)(3) of such Act (relating to qualified domestic relations orders) or the requirements of section 609(a) of such Act (relating to qualified medical child support orders) if the reference in such section 206(d)(3) to a domestic relations order and the reference in such section 609\(a\) to a medical child support order were a reference to a support order referred to in paragraphs (1) and (2) relating to the same matters, respectively.

(d) Exemption of States

If a State demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary, through the presentation to the Secretary of such data pertaining to caseloads, processing times, administrative costs, and average support collections, and such other data or estimates as the Secretary may specify, that the enactment of any law or the use of any procedure or procedures required by or pursuant to this section will not increase the effectiveness and efficiency of the State child support enforcement program, the Secretary may exempt the State, subject to the Secretary's continuing review and to termination of the exemption should circumstances change, from the requirement to enact the law or use the procedure or procedures involved.

144a (e) "Overdue support" defined

For purposes of this section, the term "overdue support" means the amount of a delinquency pursuant to an obligation determined under a court order, or an order of an administrative process established under State law, for support and maintenance of a minor child which is owed to or on behalf of such child, or for support and maintenance of the absent noncustodial parent's spouse (or former spouse) with whom the child is living if and to the extent that spousal support (with respect to such spouse or former spouse) would be included for purposes of paragraph (4) or (6) of section 654 section 654\(4\) of this title. At the option of the State, overdue support may include amounts which otherwise meet the definition in the first sentence of this subsection but which are owed to or on behalf of a child who is not a minor child. The option to include support owed to children who are not minors shall apply independently to each procedure specified under this section.

(g) Laws voiding fraudulent transfers.--In order to satisfy section 654\(20\)\(A\), each State must have in effect--
(1)(A) the Uniform Fraudulent Conveyance Act of 1981;

(B) the Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act of 1984; or

(C) another law, specifying indicia of fraud which create a prima facie case that a debtor *145a transferred income or property to avoid payment to a child support creditor, which the Secretary finds affords comparable rights to child support creditors; and

(2) procedures under which, in any case in which the State knows of a transfer by a child support debtor with respect to which such a prima facie case is established, the State must--

(A) seek to void such transfer; or

(B) obtain a settlement in the best interests of the child support creditor.

Sec. 667. State guidelines for child support awards

(a) Establishment of guidelines; method

Each State, as a condition for having its State plan approved under this part, must establish guidelines for child support award amounts within the State. The guidelines may be established by law or by judicial or administrative action, and shall be reviewed at least once every 4 years to ensure that their application results in the determination of appropriate child support award amounts.

(b) Availability of guidelines; rebuttable presumption

(1) The guidelines established pursuant to subsection (a) of this section shall be made available to all judges and other officials who have the power to determine child support awards within such State.

(2) There shall be a rebuttable presumption, in any judicial or administrative proceeding for the award of child support, that the amount of the award which would result from the application of such guidelines is the correct amount of child support to be awarded. A written finding or specific finding on the record that the application of the guidelines would be unjust or inappropriate in a particular *146a case, as determined under criteria established by the State, shall be sufficient to rebut the presumption in that case.

(c) Technical assistance to States; State to furnish Secretary with copies

The Secretary shall furnish technical assistance to the States for establishing the guidelines, and each State shall furnish the Secretary with copies of its guidelines.

Sec. 668. Encouragement of States to adopt simple civil process for voluntarily acknowledging paternity and a civil procedure for establishing paternity in contested cases

Sec. 669. Collection and reporting of child support enforcement data

(a) Statistics on need for and actual provision of services

The Secretary of Health and Human Services shall collect and maintain, on a fiscal year basis, up-to-date statistics, by State, with respect to each of the services specified in subsection (b) of this section (separately stated in the case of each such service for families receiving aid under plans approved assistance under State programs funded under part A of this subchapter and for families not receiving such aid such assistance), on--

- (1) the number of cases in the child support enforcement agency caseload under this part which need the service involved; and
- (2) the number of such cases in which the service has actually been provided.

147a (b) Types of services

The services referred to in subsection (a) of this section are--

- (1) paternity determination;
- (2) location of an absent a noncustodial parent for the purpose of establishing a child support obligation;
- (3) establishment of a child support obligation; and
- (4) location of an absent a noncustodial parent for the purpose of enforcing or modifying an established child support obligation.

(c) Actual provision of services

For purposes of subsection (a)(2) of this section, a service has actually been provided when the task described by the service has been accomplished.

Sec. 669A. Nonliability for financial institutions providing financial records to State child support enforcement agencies in child support cases

(a) In general.--Notwithstanding any other provision of Federal or State law, a financial institution shall not be liable under any Federal or State law to any person for disclosing any financial record of an individual to a State child support enforcement agency attempting to establish, modify, or enforce a child support obligation of such individual.

(b) Prohibition of disclosure of financial record obtained by State child support enforcement agency.--A State child support enforcement agency which obtains a financial record of an individual from a financial institution pursuant to subsection (a) may disclose such financial record only for the purpose of, and to the extent necessary in, establishing, modifying, or enforcing a child support obligation of such individual.

148a (c) Civil damages for unauthorized disclosure.--

(1) Disclosure by State officer or employee.--If any person knowingly, or by reason of negligence, discloses a financial record of an individual in violation of subsection (b), such individual may bring a civil action for damages against such person in a district court of the United States.

(2) No liability for good faith but erroneous interpretation.--No liability shall arise under this subsection with respect to any disclosure which results from a good faith, but erroneous, interpretation of subsection (b).

(A) the greater of--

(i) $1,000 for each act of unauthorized disclosure of a financial record with respect to which such defendant is found liable; or

(ii) the sum of--

(I) the actual damages sustained by the plaintiff as a result of such unauthorized disclosure; plus

(II) in the case of a willful disclosure or a disclosure which is the result of gross negligence, punitive damages; plus

(B) the costs (including attorney's fees) of the action.

(d) Definitions.--For purposes of this section--

(1) Financial institution.--The term 'financial institution' means--

Sec. 669B. Grants to States for access and visitation programs

(a) In general.--The Administration for Children and Families shall make grants under this section to enable States to establish and administer programs to support and facilitate noncustodial parents' access to and visitation of their children, by means of activities including mediation (both voluntary and mandatory), counseling, education, development of parenting plans, visitation enforcement (including monitoring, supervision and neutral drop-off and pickup), and development of guidelines for visitation and alternative custody arrangements.

(b) Amount of grant.--The amount of the grant to be made to a State under this section for a fiscal year shall be an amount equal to the lesser of--

(1) 90 percent of State expenditures during the fiscal year for activities described in subsection (a); or

(2) the allotment of the State under subsection (c) for the fiscal year.

*150a (c) Allotments to States.--

(1) In general.--The allotment of a State for a fiscal year is the amount that bears the same ratio to $10,000,000 for grants under this section for the fiscal year as the number of children in the State living with only 1 biological parent bears to the total number of such children in all States.

(2) Minimum allotment.--The Administration for Children and Families shall adjust allotments to States under paragraph (1) as necessary to ensure that no State is allotted less than--

(A) $50,000 for fiscal year 1997 or 1998; or

(B) $100,000 for any succeeding fiscal year.

(d) No supplantation of State expenditures for similar activities.--A State to which a grant is made under this section may not use the grant to supplant expenditures by the State for activities specified in subsection (a), but shall use the grant to supplement such expenditures at a level at least equal to the level of such expenditures for fiscal year 1995.

(e) State administration.--Each State to which a grant is made under this section--

(1) may administer State programs funded with the grant, directly or through grants to or contracts with courts, local public agencies, or nonprofit private entities;

(2) shall not be required to operate such programs on a statewide basis; and

(3) shall monitor, evaluate, and report on such programs in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

- ⁵ Congress also reduced federal funding to a final floor of 66%, which is the current level for most administrative costs. 42 U.S.C. 655(a)(2). Matching funds at the 90% level were retained for automating data processing systems. 42 U.S.C. 655(a)(1)(B).
- ⁶ The Secretary has interpreted “substantial compliance” as: (A) full compliance with requirements that services be offered statewide and that certain recipients be notified monthly of the support collected, as well as with reporting, record-keeping, and accounting rules; (B) 90% compliance with case opening and case closure criteria; and (C) 75% compliance for most remaining program functions. 45 C.F.R. 305.20. Since 1988, “substantial compliance” has also required States to succeed in establishing paternity in a specified percentage of cases. 42 U.S.C. 652(g).
- ⁷ A State’s failure to submit a plan that conforms to Title IV-D’s state plan requirements can also result in denial of federal funds under Title IV-D itself. See 45 C.F.R. 301.13; see also 45 C.F.R. 74.22(h)(1), 74.61, 74.62; 45 C.F.R. Pt. 74, App. J.
- ⁸ See 45 C.F.R. Pt. 303. The Secretary has consulted extensively with state child support enforcement officials in establishing these standards and timeframes. See 54 Fed. Reg. 15,877-15,878 (1989).
- ⁹ See also 42 U.S.C. 666(a)(5)(B) (genetic testing made available in contested paternity cases); 42 U.S.C. 655(a)(1)(C) (90% federal funding for paternity tests). In 1993, Congress increased the percentage of children for whom the State must establish paternity annually. 42 U.S.C. 652(g). Congress also mandated that States establish simplified civil procedures, including hospital-based programs, for voluntary acknowledgment of paternity. 42 U.S.C. 666(a)(5)(C); see generally H.R. Rep. No. 111, 103d Cong., 1st Sess. 487-489 (1993).
- ¹⁰ The Department of Health and Human Services is currently evaluating the impact of the 1996 Act on the Title IV-D program and assessing what regulatory changes are necessary or appropriate to interpret and implement its provisions. We have been informed by the Department that, in its judgment, the 1996 Act will require substantial revisions in performance incentives, standards and procedures for audits, and the definition of “substantial compliance” as the basis for penalties under Title IV-A.
- ¹¹ Petitioner did not present this issue in her petition for certiorari. Sup. Ct. R. 14.1(a). The petition did not mention Thiboutot, let alone urge that it be reconsidered. The question presented suggested only that permitting an action under Section 1983 would “contravene this Court’s precedents” (see Pet. i), not that seminal precedent in this area would have to be reconsidered for petitioner to prevail.
- ¹² Petitioner’s suggestion (Br. 31) that Thiboutot is “in conflict” with precedent concerning implied rights of action ignores the difference between the two inquiries:
- [The implied cause of action inquiry] reflects a concern, grounded in separation of powers, that Congress rather than the courts controls the availability of remedies for violations of statutes. Because § 1983 provides an “alternative source of express congressional authorization of private suits,” these separation-of-powers concerns are not present in a § 1983 case.
- Wilder v. Virginia Hosp. Ass’n, 496 U.S. 498, 508 n.9 (1990) (citations omitted). Indeed, it would be inconsistent with the separation of powers to require that courts themselves find an implied right of action before giving effect to an express cause of action enacted by Congress.
- ¹³ Section 1320a-2 (like Section 1320a-10) provides:
- In an action brought to enforce a provision of this chapter, such provision is not to be deemed unenforceable because of its inclusion in a section of this chapter requiring a State plan or specifying the required contents of a State plan. This section is not intended to limit or expand the grounds for determining the availability of private actions to enforce State plan requirements other than by overturning any such grounds applied in Suter v. Artist M., [503 U.S. 347] (1992), but not applied in prior Supreme Court decisions respecting such enforceability; provided, however, that this section is not intended to alter the holding in Suter v. Artist M. that section 671(a)(15) of this title is not enforceable in a private right of action.

- ¹⁴ Congress previously had amended 28 U.S.C. 1331 to remove the amount-in-controversy requirement, predicated on Thiboutot's recognition of a Section 1983 action to enforce federal statutes. See Pub. L. No. 96-486, 94 Stat. 2369; S. Rep. No. 827, 96th Cong., 2d Sess. 5 & nn.8-9 (1980).
- ¹⁵ In 1994, States realized $484 million in savings, at a cost to the federal government of nearly $1 billion. See Nineteenth Annual Report 77-78; Staff of House Comm. on Ways and Means, 103d Cong., 2d Sess., Overview of Entitlement Programs: 1994 Green Book 494-499 (Comm. Print 1994) (WMCP:103-27).
- ¹⁶ This case thus stands in sharp contrast to Suter, in which the Secretary, consistent with congressional intent, rejected national standards and opted to permit States substantial flexibility to tailor their efforts to the needs of each case. 503 U.S. at 360-363.
- ¹⁷ Much of petitioner's argument stems from a concern that courts should not enforce Title IV-D's "substantial compliance" provision, because relief necessarily would operate against the State, not a state official. As we argue below (see p. 20, infra), however, the "substantial compliance" provision is not enforceable under Section 1983. On the other hand, a suit seeking compliance with a provision of Title IV-D that is enforceable by custodial parents and children will necessitate nothing more than the typical Ex parte Young relief: an injunction directing agency officials to perform specific duties that are spelled out in the Act and regulations.
- ¹⁸ Prior to the 1988 amendments, the Secretary took the position that there was no right of action under Section 1983 to enforce Title IV-D. The Secretary has reconsidered that position in light of the amendments in 1988 and later years. Most courts that have considered the question have held that Title IV-D creates enforceable rights. See Howe v. Ellenbecker, 8 F.3d 1258, 1262-1263 (8th Cir. 1993), cert. denied, 114 S. Ct. 1373 (1994); Albiston v. Maine Comm'r of Human Servs., 7 F.3d 258, 264-268 (1st Cir. 1993); *Carelli v. Colo. 1990); Beasley v. Harris, 671 F. Supp. 911, 920-922 (D. Conn. 1987); Davis v. McClaran, 909 S.W.2d 412, 416-417, 419-420 (Tenn. 1995), cert. denied, 116 S. Ct. 1370 (1996); see also Wehunt v. Ledbetter, 875 F.2d 1558, 1568-1577 (11th Cir. 1989) (Clark, J., dissenting), cert. denied, 494 U.S. 1027 (1990). But see Wehunt, 875 F.2d at 1565-1566; Mason v. Bradley, 789 F. Supp. 273, 276-277 (N.D. Ill. 1992); Oliphant v. Bradley, No. 91 C 3055, 1992 WL 153637, at *5-*7 (N.D. Ill. Feb. 20, 1992).
- ¹⁹ The application fee charged non-AFDC families is nominal and often paid by the State. 42 U.S.C. 654(6); 45 C.F.R. 302.33. According to its state plan, Arizona charges a $1 fee, which the State pays, and does not recoup collection costs from the family.
- ²⁰ Many of Title IV-D's provisions speak in terms of state obligations running to individuals. See, e.g., 42 U.S.C. 654(4) ("State will" provide paternity services to "each child"), 654(5) (individual notification and right to request review of order), 654(6) (child support and paternity services available to any individual), 657 (outlining distribution of collections to families); 1996 Act, §§ 304(a), 312(b), 110 Stat. 2205, 2208 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 654(12), 654b(b)(4)) (right of "individuals" to notice of proceedings and information about support collected).
- ²¹ Petitioner's reliance (Br. 16-17) on Linda R.S. v. Richard D., 410 U.S. 614 (1973), is misplaced. Respondents do not seek to compel state officials to bring a criminal prosecution or civil action, and they do not rely on a non-statutory interest in child support services. Respondents instead seek to enforce a federal statutory right to services due from the State, even if those services may not, in turn, succeed in obtaining support payments. Cf. id. at 617 n.3 (“Congress may enact statutes creating legal rights, the invasion of which creates standing, even though no injury would exist without the statute.”).

- 22 Prior to the 1996 Act, a reference to “substantial compliance” was included in the provision obligating States participating in AFDC to maintain a Title IV-D program. 42 U.S.C. 602(a)(27). The 1996 Act reconfirmed that “substantial compliance” is a penalty trigger by deleting the phrase from Section 602(a)(27) and confining it to the penalty provision. 1996 Act, § 103(a)(1), 110 Stat. 2145 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 609(a)(8)).
- 23 The regulations speak in equally mandatory terms. See 45 C.F.R. Pts. 302 (listing what States “shall provide”), 303 (listing services States “must” provide and timeframes that “must” be met).
- 24 Petitioner cannot claim a lack of notice that she would have to comply with the Secretary’s regulations. The statutory text notifies her that she will be bound by regulations (e.g., 42 U.S.C. 652(f), (h) and (i), 654(3), (9) and (14)), and the State’s plan must “provide that the State will comply with such other requirements and standards as the Secretary determines to be necessary to the establishment of an effective program for locating noncustodial parents, establishing paternity, obtaining support orders, and collecting support payments.” 42 U.S.C. 654(13) (as amended by 1996 Act, § 395(d)(1)(D), 110 Stat. 2259). Even without such provisions, the statutory text is not the sole source of binding obligations enforceable under Section 1983. Suter, 503 U.S. at 359; Wilder, 496 U.S. at 519; School Bd. of Nassau County v. Arline, 480 U.S. 273, 286 n.15 (1987); cf. Dennis v. Higgins, 498 U.S. 439, 447 n.7 (1991); Golden State, 493 U.S. at 112 (enforceable right implicit in statutory language).
- 25 Title IV-D leaves no doubt that compliance with the Act’s specific mandates is a condition of receiving federal funds. 42 U.S.C. 603(h) (federal funds reduced if program fails to comply substantially), 652(a)(4) and (g) (conditions for Title IV-A and Title IV-D funds), 655(a)(1); 45 C.F.R. Pt. 301 (same); cf. Pennhurst, 451 U.S. at 24-25 (no right where States were unaware that substantive conduct was a condition of federal funding).
- 26 See also 59 Fed. Reg. 66,212 (1994) (“States are required to meet all Federal requirements contained in program regulations, whether or not the requirements are included under [the regulatory definition of ‘substantial compliance’].”); 50 Fed. Reg. 19,623 (1985); 49 Fed. Reg. 36,773 (1984) (“substantial compliance” should not be “construed to imply that it would be permissible for States to neglect or exclude certain cases or classes of cases”).
- 27 The former requirement that States pay the first $50 of child support collected each month to an AFDC family fell in the same category. 42 U.S.C. 602(a)(8)(A)(vi), 657(b)(1), repealed 1996 Act, § 302(a), 110 Stat. 2200 (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. 657(a)(2)).
- 28 At least some of respondents’ claims involve enforceable rights. See, e.g., Complaint ¶¶ 9-23, 29-39, 42-51, 56-61 (J.A. 7-9, 10-11, 12-15) (wage withholding, parent locator searches, commencing interstate collections, administrative paternity establishment).
- 29 The courts have divided on whether the Secretary’s enforcement powers preclude a Section 1983 action. See Howe, 8 F.3d at 1263 (not foreclosed); Albiston, 7 F.3d at 268-269 (same); King, 829 F. Supp. at 995 (same); Behunin, 744 F. Supp. at 257-258 (same); Davis, 909 S.W.2d at 417-419 (same); see also Wehunt, 875 F.2d at 1575-1577 (Clark, J., dissenting) (same); Carelli, 923 F.2d at 1212-1216 (foreclosed on particular facts); Oliphant, 1992 WL 153637, at *9-*10 (foreclosed).

³⁰ While beneficiaries could still enforce their support rights against the absent parent under state law, that would do nothing to vindicate their federal rights under Title IV-D to receive child support services from the State (just as a plaintiff's ability to purchase educational or medical services in the marketplace does not constitute an adequate substitute for a right to educational or medical services from the State). Furthermore, the state IV-D agency has access to enforcement tools and sources of information that a beneficiary or private attorney would not. Arizona law does allow suits, under some circumstances, to compel agency action, Ariz. Rev. Stat. Ann. §§ 12-820 to 12-826 (1992 & Supp. 1994), but not for the "exercise of an administrative function involving the determination of fundamental governmental policy," id. § 12-820.01 (A)(2) (1992). In any event, the availability of a parallel state court action does not preclude an action under Section 1983. Cf. Patsy v. Board of Regents, 457 U.S. 496, 506-507 (1982).

³² Concerns voiced by petitioner and her amici that allowing actions under Section 1983 will open the litigation floodgates and divert valuable resources are misplaced. The majority of courts that have addressed the issue have already approved Section 1983 actions (see n.18, supra), without any of those dire predictions coming to pass. By way of comparison, no such avalanche followed this Court's decision in Edelman, which held that individuals can sue under Section 1983 to force States to comply with federal time limits in administering the former Aid to the Aged, Blind and Disabled program. Indeed, some of the most successful and efficient Title IV-D programs are in States where Section 1983 actions have been permitted. Nineteenth Annual Report 10-11. Principles of standing and ripeness may prevent claims concerning inconsequential deviations from technical statutory and regulatory requirements that resulted in no real injury to persons seeking services. Cf. Williamson County Regional Planning Comm'n v. Hamilton Bank of Johnson City, 473 U.S. 172 (1985). In addition, courts will always retain their traditional equitable discretion to withhold relief when the departure from federal law is inconsequential or the state default has been corrected. See Withrow, 942 F.2d at 1388; Haskins v. Stanton, 794 F.2d 1273, 1277 (7th Cir. 1986). And limitations on class actions under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23 must, of course, be enforced. See also Pub. L. No. 104-134, § 504(a)(7), 110 Stat. 1321-53 (barring use of funds furnished by Legal Services Corporation to support class actions). Should litigation nevertheless prove burdensome, Congress can readily respond by imposing an exhaustion requirement or otherwise limiting the availability of Section 1983 in this context. Cf. 42 U.S.C. 1997e (imposing exhaustion requirement on prisoner suits). Finally, if the specific requirements and timetables that Congress has enacted and strengthened under Title IV-D prove unworkable in practice, that is a problem for Congress to fix by amending Title IV-D itself.
